Castro Due To Release Servicemen

Americans Seized By Cuban Rebels Were Not Harmed

By LARRY ALLEN

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP) — Cuban rebels were expected to begin releasing their 29 captive American servicemen this afternoon after holding them more than two weeks.

The evacuation from the rebels' isolated mountain camps may take four days or more.

Word of the anticipated release came from U.S. Consul Park Wollam, who has been dickering with Fidel Castro and his lieutenants in the mountains of Oriente province for the captives' return.

"We are hopeful all will be released," Wollam messaged Rear Adm. Robert B. Ellis, commander of the big American naval base on Guantanamo Bay where the prisoners are stationed.

One Already Returned

Twenty-eight of the sailors and Marines were kidnaped June 26 on a bus ride through the Cuban countryside and two more were grabbed near the base. One of the latter has been returned.

Ellis said he was not sure how many men would be freed today. The Navy helicopters which have brought back 20 U.S. and Canadian civilians seized by the rebels usually can carry only four passengers on each trip.

The copters have been the only foreign aircraft allowed to fly over rebellious Oriente province by President Fulgencio Batista's government. Sunday a U. S. Marine Flying Boxcar apparently strayed off its prescribed course on a flight from Guantanamo to Opa-Locka, Fla., and was forced down by Cuban army fighter planes.

The lumbering transport landed at Santiago, the capital of Oriente. A U.S. consul there quickly intervened and the plane was on its way again a few hours later.

The U.S. Embassy at Havana minimized the incident as "unimportant." The official Cuban explanation was that a misunderstanding had arisen because the jumpy fighter pilots had been "unable to determine the aircraft's intentions."

Plane Course Changed

Later the Navy ordered all planes using the Guantanamo airstrip to fly 10 miles off the Oriente coastline.

The rebels' reported decision to start freeing the servicemen appeared to indicate they have given up hope the kidnapings would help them wheedle concessions from the United States.

They had been seeking recognition as genuine belligerents—instead of unorganized revolutionaries—and hoped this might lead to a promise that American aid to President Fulgencio Batista's government would be shut off.

Iran's Ruler Flying Home

CANNES, France (AP) — The Shah of Iran left for Istanbul and home today after a world tour which included a brief stop on the French Riviera.

In Istanbul, he was to attend a meeting of the chiefs of state and government heads of the Asian members of the Baghdad Pact. The meeting took on new, urgent importance today with the overthrow of Iraqi King Faisal and his pro-Western government, the only Arab member of the Western-sponsored alliance.

Solons Study U. S. Airways Control Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to provide unified control of fast-growing air traffic comes up for action in the Senate today.

Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla) said its prompt passage is urgently necessary to save lives and to end what he called the present diffuse and conflicting setup for control of the airways.

The bill would create a federal aviation agency headed by a civilian administrator. He would have full authority to control the use of airspace by both civil and military aircraft and to make and enforce air traffic rules.

Monroney, chief sponsor of the bill, said in a speech prepared for the start of Senate debate that the problems of the air age demand an end to "old divisions of authority and responsibility, old delays by intergovernmental committees."

Monroney, chairman of the Senate Aviation subcommittee, introduced the bill after aerial collisions between military jets and commercial airliners over Las Vegas, Nev., and Brunswick, Md., took a toll of more than 60 lives.

President Eisenhower subsequently sent a message to Congress urging the enactment of similar legislation.

The major difference to be fought out in the Senate is whether the location of military air bases and missile sites shall be subject to the approval of the administrator of the proposed new aviation agency.

Italian Poet Greeted At Village In Italy

TIROLO, Italy (AP) — This Italian mountain village welcomed poet Ezra Pound Sunday night with a torchlight procession, a brass band and flowers.

The 72-year-old American, who was released from a U.S. mental hospital after treason charges against him were dropped, arrived here Saturday to live with his daughter and her family in a castle dominating this northeastern Italy village.

GOP 'Brass' To Confer On Ballot Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—High level Republicans meet Wednesday to discuss the coming election campaign and GOP prospects.

A party official who asked not to be named didn't say who would attend other than that Vice President Nixon and most members of the Cabinet have been invited and are expected to participate.

The official said the meeting was suggested about a week ago by GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn. He described it as one of a continuing series of campaign conferences.

The official said the conference has no connection with the controversy over Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief aide, and his gift-giving friend, Bernard Goldfine.

"It could come up but I doubt it," the official said, adding that the meeting is "for the purpose of talking about the campaign."

M'Cone Sworn In As Head Of AEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Los Angeles industrialist John McCone took over today as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission at a White House ceremony.

Just after McCone was sworn in to succeed retiring Lewis L. Strauss, President Eisenhower laughingly told the new chairman: "That means your long vacation from government work is now ended. Now you go to work."

McCone served as under secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration.

Ike's Brother Goes On Tour To Find Facts

BALBOA, Canal Zone (AP)—Milton Eisenhower embarked on a tour of the Panama Canal today with his head full of Panama's proposals for economic aid and a plea for recognition of her sovereignty over the vital waterway.

It was the third day of the friendly and thus far uneventful fact-finding mission on which the President of the United States has sent his brother.

Later he goes on to Honduras, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Puerto Rico, El Salvador and Guatemala, in that order. The zig-zag itinerary was planned in advance and announced only today to foil any violent leftist demonstrations of the type that greeted Vice President Nixon on his South American tour.

If any similar anti-American sentiment exists in Panama, it did not show itself over the weekend. Eisenhower was shielded by strict security measures and whisked around Panama city so rapidly that the inhabitants of the capital hardly were aware of his presence. His daily schedule was not published.

President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr. told the visitor that flying the Panamanian flag over the Canal Zone and using Spanish officially inside the 10-mile-wide strip would help bring the people of Panama and the United States closer together.

The United States controls the Canal Zone under an agreement with Panama.

Benson Delays Trip To Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today postponed indefinitely a planned trip to Russia and other north European countries.

Benson said the "extreme pressure" of legislative and agricultural policy matters "leaves no choice but to delay the trip indefinitely at this time."

He had intended to leave late next month to visit Russia, Finland, West Germany, Norway, Sweden, and possibly Poland.

Goldfine Tax Probe Not Scheduled Now

Action Could Begin Later, Harris Hints

Tycoon Slated To Return Tuesday In House Group Quiz

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) said today he has no present plan to start a tax inquiry involving Bernard Goldfine, gift-giving friend of presidential aide Sherman Adams.

Mills heads the Ways and Means Committee, which handles tax questions.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the Commerce subcommittee now checking Goldfine's tangled financial affairs, disclosed Sunday he had talked to Mills "with reference to any possible income tax evasion."

Harris said his inquiry is limited to how regulatory agencies carry out the law. His subcommittee has brought out that Goldfine charged items like hotel bills for Adams as business expenses.

Gifts Were Deducted

Both Goldfine and Adams have pictured Goldfine's favors for Eisenhower's top aide as acts of friendship. But Harris' investigators say if that's true, then Goldfine's gifts could not properly have been deduced as business costs. Goldfine said his accountants had handled the deductions as a matter of routine.

Mills did not rule out the possibility that his group might go into the tax angle at some future time. However, he said in an interview that "I have no plan to do anything at the moment."

Mills said Harris "hasn't talked to me in an official way" on the question, but had just raised the question briefly without supplying details. Mills said he would have to have more details before he can decide whether he should take up the matter with his committee.

Goldfine himself was due back in Washington today to bone up for his sixth day of testimony before Harris' subcommittee Tuesday.

Just before the real estate and textile millionaire flew home to Boston over the weekend, he blasted his congressional interrogators for what he called their "smear, pry and spy" into his affairs.

The subcommittee has threatened to cite him for contempt for not answering, so far, 23 financial questions which Goldfine says have nothing to do with the subcommittee inquiry.

Goldfine's lawyers were reported ready to suggest to Goldfine today that he ask for a vote by the full Commerce Committee on whether the subgroup has stepped out of bounds in its inquiry.

A Goldfine aide said the pur-

Iran Border Under Guard

TEHRAN (AP) — Iran today strengthened its guard along its border with Iraq as a precautionary measure to prevent any illegal entry.

Two hundred Iranian troops were stationed outside the Iraqi Embassy in Tehran as a precautionary measure. There was no immediate public reaction to the overthrow of Iraqi King Faisal, an ally of Iran in the Baghdad Pact.

With the Shah still on vacation in Europe and Premier Manouchehr Eghbal in Istanbul for a Baghdad Pact meeting, government officials refused to comment on the Iraqi situation other than to express astonishment.

Terror Grips Island In Cypriot Warfare

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A round-the-clock curfew was clamped on Cyprus today to halt mounting communal warfare between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. Terror gripped the island.

The British governor, Sir Hugh Foot, ordered all persons to stay in their homes until further notice except civil servants and essential public workers. It was the most drastic security move since the shootings, bombings, ambushes and riots began on this Mediterranean island three years ago.

A government spokesman said district security committees would arrange for the townspeople to get food, probably through lifting the curfew at specified times for shopping. He insisted the government did not intend to starve the Cypriots into submission.

The Greeks and Turks here have been fighting each other since June 8, ever since the word got out that the new British plan for the island would not satisfy the Greek majority's desire to unite with Greece or the Turk demands to partition the island to protect their rights.

The Turks took the initial initiative in the communal attacks. But last week EOKA, the Greek underground terrorist organization which had been generally quiet for months, announced it would take the warpath against the Turkish Cypriots.

There was a rising tide of Greek attacks on the Turks and of Turkish retaliation. Three Greeks and five Turks died yesterday, bringing the toll in the past five weeks to 31 Greek Cypriots and 20 Turkish. Four Greek stores were burned out and the Chapel of St. Mamas in Limassol, containing the island's finest wood

New Lebanon Leader Picked To End Strife

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Both President Camille Chamoun and the rebels warring against him are reported in agreement today on the man to take over Lebanon's government and attempt to end this nation's 66-day-old rebellion.

But there is disagreement on how the man should take over. This disagreement could blow the country apart.

Parliament meets July 24 to elect a successor to Chamoun. The name of the figure both sides want to take over cannot be disclosed in news dispatches from Lebanon because of censorship. He is a nonpolitical personality who has played an important role since the rebellion began.

(The compromise candidate is Gen. Fued Shehab, commander in chief of the Lebanese army. He is a Maronite Christian with some strong Moslem support. By custom, the president of this half-Christian, half-Moslem nation is a Christian; the premier a Moslem.

State Officials Given Pen Terms

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Special Judge Thomas Garvin today imposed sentences of two to 14 years in prison, and fines of $15,000, upon Elmer Sherwood and William Sayer, two former Indiana state officials convicted July 3 on charges of bribery and conspiracy in Indiana highway dealings.

The two men were convicted of bribing and conspiracy to bribe Virgil Smith, former state highway chairman, to help a salesman, Arthur Mogilner, sell equipment and supplies to the state.

Troops Repulse 'Squatter' Army

ENSENADA, Mexico (AP) — Troops and police have broken up a squatters army that tried to take over farm acreage in nearby Guadalupe Valley, colonized half a century ago by Russian immigrants.

Authorities said the invasion was partly Communist inspired.

A spokesman for the 100 Russians living in the valley said they are now all Mexican citizens.

Pro-Nasser Army Group Takes Over

Premier And King's Uncle Reported To Be Victims Of Mob

By EDWIN A. SHANKE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A military coup ousted the pro-Western regime today in Baghdad Pact, an Iraq, keystone of the Baghdad Pact, and proclaimed a pro-Nasser government.

Baghdad radio said King Faisal had been overthrown and a republic established. An army brigadier was named as leader of the coup.

The broadcast said Crown Prince Abdul Ilah, Faisal's uncle and former regent, was beaten to death by a mob and his body dismembered and burned in the streets.

Report Premier Slain

Reports from Cairo, capital of Nasser's United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria, said Premier Nuri Said, the pro-Western strong man of Iraq, also had been killed by a mob.

The coup if successful, would be a stunning blow to the West. It would knock a key pin—Iraq—out of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact in the Middle East.

Iraq is one of the Middle East's richest oil countries. The British-controlled Iraqi Petroleum Co., produces most of Iraq's oil. The product goes largely to Western Europe.

There was no direct word of 23-year-old Faisal, who also is chief of state of the new Iraq-Jordan Federation formed Feb. 14, 1958, to counter Nasser's U.A.R., organized two weeks before. The Communist radio in Budapest said he had been arrested by the army.

The Jordan Embassy in London announced, however, that 23-year-old King Hussein of Jordan, Faisal's Hashemite cousin, was undertaking to re-establish public security and order on both sides of the union.

The Jordan ambassador, a brother of Jordan Premier Samir Rifai, did not say how Hussein proposed to act. But he said the Federation government was in urgent session in Amman, the Jordan capital, and that he was confident the revolt would be put down.

There were no reports to bear out Cairo claims that the revolt had spread to Jordan, and there was no clear-cut indication whether the rebel leaders had established control throughout Iraq.

All that was known for certain was that the Baghdad radio was in the hands of the revolutionary leaders.

Except for the reports of mob action there was no report of fighting.

The Baghdad broadcasts were greeted with jubilation in Cairo, Damascus, Moscow and East European satellite capitals.

Lebanese Rebels Celebrate

Here in Beirut, torn for more than two months by a revolt against pro - Western President Camille Chamoun, rebels in the Moslem quarter celebrated with a wild firing of guns.

Communist broadcasts said the coup was carried out because Iraq had planned to give military aid to the Lebanese government.

Eisenhower Calls Session To Discuss Iraq Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower interrupted a National Security Council meeting today for a top-level conference on the overthrow of the pro-Western government in Iraq.

Eisenhower's action pointed up the seriousness with which the United States regards the sudden Middle East development.

Eisenhower left the Security Council meeting at 10:30 a.m. (EDT) to confer in his office with Secretary of State Dulles and Vice President Nixon.

Dulles was accompanied by several State Department Middle East specialists.

Both Dulles and Nixon are members of the council, the nation's top security planning body. However, Dulles did not arrive at the White House until after the meeting was well under way and he went into conference with Eisenhower immediately.

Presumably Dulles had been studying reports on the Iraq situation at his own office.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, in announcing the Dulles-Eisenhower meeting, told reporters:

"Of course the subject was Iraq."

He said the Middle East situation was mentioned at the Security Council meeting itself only in passing, if at all, since Dulles was not present.

Iraq Revolt Carries Real Threat To World Peace

Editor's Note—William L. Ryan has just completed a six-week trip to the Middle East. He visited Iraq, Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Kuwait.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

BELGRADE (AP)—Iraq's revolution can be the beginning of the worst of all crises for the Middle East. It carries a real danger to world peace.

The West had more reason to fear such a development in Iraq than in almost any other place in the Middle East. One way or the other, the events in Baghdad are bound to spill out into other sensitive areas.

If King Hussein of Jordan is to survive the overthrow of his Iraqi cousin Faisal, he will need massive support from the outside. If he gets that support, the Middle East will become a cockpit for a deep world political crisis.

But if the Iraqi revolution is made to stick, its effect also will be felt far beyond Jordan.

The turmoil is likely to reach Kuwait, with its oil riches, and even Saudi Arabia and the rest of the Saudi Peninsula, where the fever for Arab nationalism, always strong, will get new impetus.

What happened in Baghdad appears to have been a coup by desperate men who had been eying an opportunity and who feared that opportunity might slip from their hands.

The opportunity was afforded by the Lebanese rebellion. For extremists in Baghdad it must have been a question of now or never—no matter what Gamal Abdel Nasser's own opinion of their plans might have been.

I was last in Baghdad a little more than a month ago.

One could feel the tension being generated by the Lebanese rebellion.

Today's developments foreshadow all sorts of chaos. Because of this, it is difficult to believe that Nasser wanted it to happen in just this way and at just this time.

State Department Shocked By Lightning Coup In Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials were shocked today at the lightning military coup which overthrew King Faisal's pro-Western Iraq government.

Worried officials clearly regarded the revolt as a major development which could set off new, far-reaching repercussions in other Middle East countries. Iraq is a cornerstone of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact.

The news, confirmed by the American Embassy in Baghdad, brought hurried early morning conferences by U.S. officials here to assess its significance and decide what, if anything, the United States could do.

Cables from Ambassador Waldemar Gallman reported that Iraq army tanks had been deployed around the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad to protect the embassy and its personnel.

A big crowd gathered in front of the U.S. Information Agency office in Baghdad. Gallman ordered it closed to avoid any possible incident.

Initial reports to the State Department by the embassy said there had been no attacks or threats against Americans. As a precaution, Americans were ordered to stay off the streets.

The State Department declined immediate comment but officials were alarmed.

Big Three, Auto Union Resume Contract Talks

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers and the auto industry's Big Three return to the bargaining table today.

Negotiations for new contracts at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler resume in an atmosphere laden with questions.

Chief among them were the continuing effect of the recession and the role to be played by the industry's backlog of unsold 1958 model cars.

Presumably, the UAW and the companies were starting out virtually all over again from the point they stood at in late March when these negotiations first began.

There had been no serious concession from either side up to the time the auto contracts expired during the Memorial Day weekend. The companies have continued operations without contracts.

Today's talks followed upon an extended Fourth of July recess prior to which there had been no signs of progress toward agreements.

Since then, however, the background has undergone some changes.

The UAW has been taking a strike vote at all three companies. It reports its rank and file has favored a strike by a 90 per cent majority if necessary to enforce demands.

The unsold car inventory has been reduced from its 850,000 of earlier in the year to about 765,000.

In the meantime, the industry has begun its planning for the new 1959 model cars. General Motors already has shut down its Buick factories for the changeover. More plants will close in August and September.

Last spring, when negotiations opened, the UAW was handicaped by recession layoffs of its members and the new car backlog. Its strike weapon was crippled.

In its consideration of any further strike plans the union doubtless will continue to watch the barometers of business conditions.

As negotiations resumed, the UAW apparently still stood on its original demands for a pay boost of 10 cents an hour, improved layoff pay benefits, improved pensions, and other concessions. The average auto worker pay is $2.30 an hour.

Pro-Nasser

Baghdad radio named, Brig. Gen. Abdel Karim Kassem leader of the coup. He was said to have named a 13-man Cabinet and a three-man Sovereignty Council headed by Lt. Gen. Naguib el Ribaei. The Council, it was announced, would exercise sovereignty until a plebiscite for president can be held.

Orders from Baghdad radio told the people not to attack foreign embassies or other establishments, and announced that the lives and property of foreigners would be safeguarded.

Brig. Gen. Abdel Guelil Hatem was announced as the new army commander. Ilah and Queen Mother Ailiya also were announced.

The coup faced Britain and the other members of the Baghdad Pact—Pakistan, Iran and Turkey—with the question of military intervention in Iraq, the only Arab member of the Western-sponsored alliance. The pact does not provide for automatic intervention in the event of attack or internal revolt, but diplomats in London said failure of the West to come to the aid of the legal Iraqi government almost certainly would spell the end of Western influence throughout the Arab world.

The United States was no less on the spot. Although not a member of the Baghdad alliance, it supports it and is a member of its major committees.

Faisal and Nuri had been scheduled to fly to Istanbul today for a meeting of the Asian members of the Baghdad Pact.

As one of their first actions, the coup leaders announced recognition of the U.A.R., which Faisal and Nuri Said previously had refused to extend.

The news of the Iraqi revolt was broadcast briefly this morning from Moscow. A Tass dispatch datelined from Damascus reported the Baghdad radio announcements and said: "The royal regime has been overthrown and the Iraq republic has been proclaimed."

The defendants are Stanley F. Hanlon, 21, of Middle Island, N.Y., and Donald Green, 23, of Baltimore, Md.

At the first trial session they were charged with illegally shipping clothing material from Japan to South Korea via the customs-free U.S. Army Post Office on May 9 and 10. The second indictment said they did the same thing on April 25, May 3 and 6.

The next hearing in the Tokyo District Court is scheduled for July 25. Both Hanlon and Green are held at Tokyo's Kosuge Prison.

Church Head Sees World's End In A-War

LONDON (AP)—Britain's leading churchman suggests in a book published today that God may intend to have mankind wipe itself off the face of the earth in a nuclear war.

"For all I know, it is within the providence of God that the human race should destroy itself in this manner," wrote Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury. "There is no evidence that the human race should last forever, and plenty in Scripture to the contrary."

Dr. Fisher, the head of the Church of England, is one of 22 contributors to a book entitled "The Fearful Choice," edited by Philip Toynbee, son of the famous historian Arnold Toynbee.

Harris, who also heads the full committee, indicated that the group would make short shrift of any Goldfine appeal. He said he himself intends to push for a citation.

Speaking in a television interview, Harris disclosed that he has signed subpoenas for four new witnesses. He declined to give names. The Goldfine aide said no additional persons in the Goldfine group had been subpoenaed.

Harris and a Republican member of the subcommittee, Rep. John B. Bennett (Mich), both rejected Goldfine's contention that the congressmen are on a fishing expedition into his private affairs.

New reports were published over the weekend that Adams intends to resign. The Detroit News said Adams plans to quit during the Labor Day weekend. The White House declined comment and Adams could not be reached.

Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton, who appeared to be a favorite among congressional Republicans to succeed Adams if the latter should quit, said, "I don't expect to see Mr. Adams leave." Eisenhower has said he wants his right-hand man to stay on.

Tokyo Clerk Testifies At Ex-Grid Star Trial

TOKYO (AP)—A hotel night clerk testified today that Joseph P. Crowley, wearing blood-spattered pajamas, tried to bar him from the room where Crowley's brother-in-law later died.

Crowley, a 46-year-old former Yale football star, is accused of beating his brother-in-law, T. A. D. Jones Jr., 45, New Haven Conn., so severely between 3:30 and 5:30 a. m. last May 8 that Jones died of a cerebral hemorrhage about 12 hours later. He is charged with manslaughter.

The Imperial Hotel's front desk clerk, Toshiomi Kawahara, testified at Crowley's Japanese trial that at 5:30 a.m. May 8 he got a call to send a doctor to room 202, the famous hotel's Royal Suite.

"I asked what happened but could not understand the reply," Kawahara testified.

The suite, recently occupied by President Sukarno of Indonesia, was being shared then by Crowley, Jones and their consultant, Frederick M. Kissinger, 62, Brandywine, Md., who were in Japan to buy a tanker.

The clerk testified:

"I went up to room 202. Mr. Crowley opened the door and asked 'Are you the doctor: What happened to the doctor: Who are you:'

"His voice was the same as the voice on the telephone, like that of a drunk person. He was wearing pajamas with about 10 blood stains the size of the tip of the thumb on the area from his stomach pit to his shoulders.

"I asked what happened: Crowley didn't answer. When I tried to enter, he held out his arm and stopped me. I think it was his left arm.

"Then I saw Mr. Kissinger in the room so I asked again what happened. Kissinger made a motion with his hand as if someone had been hurt on the neck.

"I understood immediately what he meant and went to inform the night manager," Kawamura said.

"Did you find Crowley's attitude strange for not allowing you to enter?" Prosecutor Minoru Uchida asked.

"No, I didn't," Kawahara replied.

He said his first thought was that someone had got drunk and hurt himself, and needed urgent medical attention.

Former Local Resident Has Unusual Industry

Harry W. Kompanek, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kompanek, 511 Pearre Avenue, is operating an unusual industry under the name of "Michelite" in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Michelite, he explains, is actually a modern-day ceramic development of the monocrystal discovered by Marie Curie in the last century, using Rochelle salt. Phonograph needles were made with it, as well as numerous other objects. (Piezoelectricity involves current produced or controlled by pressure in crystalline substances, such as quartz.)

Kompanek, a 34-year-old chemical engineer, heads the firm of Universal Dynamics Corp., and operates a plant and laboratory at 321 State Street in Santa Barbara.

His development of the piezoelectric polycrystal has many uses, he says, such as with sonar, with ultrasonic drilling and cleaning, with accelerometers, in seismic operations, or as impact fuses for missiles.

A former paper carrier for Cumberland papers and a graduate of Allegany High School in the class of 1941, Kompanek is a son of a well known Czechoslovakia-born couple, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kompanek, 511 Pearre Avenue. His father, now retired, was a shop foreman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company here for many years.

Harry graduated from Iowa State College as a chemical engineer. He entered the Navy and took graduate work there in advanced mathematics and physics at the University of Pennsylvania. He was commissioned in the Navy at Notre Dame as an engineering officer and served as a lieutenant on a destroyer during World War II.

After the war, he was employed at the Underwater Sound Laboratory at Orlando, Fla., for four years. While there he designed, calibrated and evaluated Navy's sonar equipment. During the Korean war he was recalled to active duty and served in the acoustics field in the Office of Naval Research in Washington. He was project officer on numerous Navy programs, dealing with the difficult problem of submarine detection.

For two years he was stationed in London as an assistant naval attache for research with the Office of Naval Intelligence. As a liaison officer in electronics and acoustics he visited laboratories and universities of the free world, studying their work and their projects.

In 1953, Kompanek joined the Clevite Research Center at Cleveland, Ohio. For four years there he was director of contracts, and it was there he became interested in the field of piezoite materials.

Something over a year ago Mr. Kompanek and his wife, the former Mary David, a former stewardess with Western Air Lines, moved to California. Kompanek became a staff engineer at Aerophysics Development Corp. in Santa Barbara, but in February of this year resigned to form the company he now heads.

His company is producing tubes and squares and odd shapes of custom-made Michelite for clients all across the country.

No idle dreamer, Kompanek is looking to the future. He believes that this material will eventually find its way into the home. The tasks of the homemaker can be revolutionized, he claims. "Imagine having one simple little generator in the kitchen, with all the operations such as cooking, dish washing and refrigeration, powered by it."

WATER, A VALUABLE RESOURCE—The direct connection between population increase and growing water shortages is strikingly shown in maps above, prepared from projections of the U. S. Census Bureau and Geological Survey data. Two areas in particular, the Midwest and Southwest, are expected to feel the pinch increasingly, warns the Population Reference Bureau. In 1900, the per capita daily consumption of water (amount used divided by population) was 539 gallons. In 1950, it was 1,340. By 1970, it is expected to climb to 1,947 gallons.

Man Serves 30 Years As Witness For Christ

By LOUIS CASSELS

Harry Denman is a disturbing kind of Christian.

He takes seriously an aspect of Christian teaching that most church members prefer not to think about: the responsibility of every layman to be an outspoken "witness" for Jesus Christ.

For more than 30 years, Denman has been talking about religion, quietly and unaffectedly, to taxi drivers, department store clerks, Pullman porters and virtually everyone else he meets. Billy Graham calls him "The greatest practitioner of personal evangelism in America."

Denman is not the brash kind of extrovert who finds it easy to strike up conversations with strangers. By nature, he is a sensitive and different man. He carries on his private evangelistic crusade because he is convinced that "Jesus was speaking to all Christians—not merely to ministers—when he said, 'Ye shall be witnesses unto me.'"

"Do you really believe that the average housewife or businessman could do the kind of 'witnessing' you do? I asked Denman in an interview.

"Yes," he replied. "Anyone can do it if he tries. It's like jumping under a cold shower. After you get under, it's all right."

Denman was an office worker for a Birmingham, Ala., industrial firm when he began his career as a lay evangelist. Although he is still technically a layman—in the sense that he has never been ordained—he now devotes full time to church work. Since 1940, he has served as general secretary of the Methodist Board of Evangelism at Nashville, Tenn.

In recent years, Denman has been much in demand as a speaker. He stays on the road constantly, visiting local Methodist churches in every part of the country to help organize evangelistics missions in the course of a year, he probably preaches to more people than any other churchman with the possible exception of Billy Graham.

He has done his best to remain what he feels he was called to be—a "lay witness to Christ" rather than a professional evangelist. He refuses to accept a salary from the Board of Evangelism ("I am a bachelor and do not need a salary," he explained.) His living expenses, which the board pays, are held to the bare minimum. When I interviewed him, he was staying in a cramped single room in a second-class hotel.

He was extremely reluctant to talk about himself or his work, but he opened up when the conversation switched to a layman's opportunities for evangelism.

"Your basic witness is the kind of life you lead," he said.

"A sincere Christian can have a profound effect on the people around him without saying a word about religion. But the same Christian will accomplish far more for the Kingdom of God if he learns to witness with his lips as well as his life.

"There are many ways of doing it. It is easier, usually, to start with someone you know, if you have new neighbors and notice that they stay at home on Sunday morning, you have an opening to invite them to go to your church with you. They may accept your invitation—or they may tell you that they don't believe in going to church. Either way, you have a chance to talk to them about Christ.

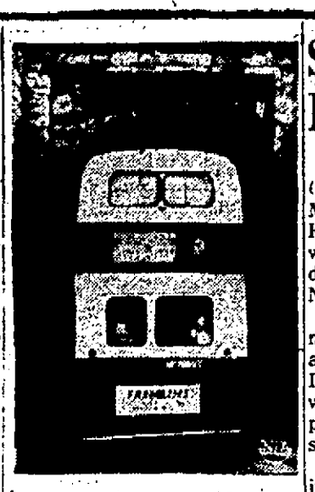

"Maybe you have a friend or a business associate who is in trouble. Help him in any concrete way that you can, and meanwhile watch for the right moment to tell him where you turn for strength and courage when you are in trouble."

Won't people resent such overtures and treat you as an unwelcome meddler in their personal affairs?

"I've talked to a good many thousands of people, and I never met one who resented it," said Denman. "You cannot do this kind of thing unless you really care for people—and they can always tell.

Officials said Schmidt was taking Knight to visit his parents' home in the country.

ANOTHER GREAT CADILLAC TRADITION

If there is one quality which is instantly apparent in a new Cadillac—it is most certainly the car's great dignity. Cadillac's regal bearing, its impressive stature, and its majestic design give it a presence that is uniquely its own. It is a rare pleasure to command such a motor car—and we think you will agree, once you've taken the wheel for yourself. Why not do so soon?

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

The Old Story

WITH ANOTHER tragic toll of holiday highway fatalities just behind us, no one needs to be persuaded that we must seize every possible approach to greater safety on street and highway. The design of the automobile itself is one of the key approaches, obviously. In recent years certain car manufacturers have been directing much attention to making today's automobile a safer "shell" in which to ride. From a celebrated industrial designer, Henry Dreyfuss, comes a series of proposals, however, that perhaps put the problem of designing a safer car in a fresh light. Dreyfuss, writing in the publication, Consumer Reports, notes that the National Safety Council says 80 per cent of all motor accidents stem from human failure. Without questioning the figures, he suggests a good many of the "human failures" may follow from features of present-day car design.

HE BELIEVES many critical driver errors may be made by people whose efficiency has been worn down by uncomfortable seats, inadequate visibility, and poorly organized driving controls. In this matter of good seating, he notes that an authority in the field, Dr. Janet Travell of Cornell University Medical College, says comfort demands seats or chairs which allow you angles greater than 90 degrees at your hips and knees. This means a quite open angle at the point where seat-back and seat-cushion meet, in addition to lots of leg room. Dreyfuss questions whether this is commonly found today. Too many of us get "auto legs," a combination of stiffness and fatigue which can eventually result in a slowing of the critical responses that govern muscles which operate brake, accelerator, or steering wheel.

ON THE SUBJECT of controls, he calls for standardization of location, size, shape, color, and even texture of the various devices. In these days, when Americans switch cars so rapidly, he sees great peril in the confusion that flows from having hand brake, starter, gear controls, and the rest unstandardized. There are two-car families, millions of car renters, and many who buy a new and possibly different car every year or two. Dreyfuss has suggested a line of thinking about automobile safety that deserves to be thoroughly explored. Errors of human judgment and control bulk large in the accident picture. The least we can do, it would seem, is to set up conditions on the road and in the car which minimize rather than enlarge these mistakes.

A FOOD EXPERT told a class that "nutrition can be fun." Shucks, we've known that for decades — ever since we first smelled new-baked bread in a farm kitchen.

Seaway: Final Act

THE ROAR OF a mighty explosion at Massena, N. Y., has signalized the final act in the St. Lawrence Seaway construction drama. The explosion breached a cofferdam and released the river to form Lake St. Lawrence and surge through turbines that will eventually generate more than two million horsepower of electrical energy. The Seaway channel will not be opened to deep-draft ocean shipping until next year. But the cofferdam blast places the triumphant realization of the old Seaway dream clearly in sight. After more than half a century of effort by men caught up in this dream, a deep channel into the Great Lakes will become reality. Even then, much will remain to be done. Large ocean-going vessels will not be able to proceed beyond Toledo at the head of Lake Erie. The next step will be to deepen the inter-lake channels. Once that is done, ships of deep draft will be able to steam to such ports as Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth in the heart of the continent. The effects of this, over the long run if not immediately, will be momentous. An increasing variety of goods from abroad will be unloaded more than a thousand miles inland, and on their return voyages the ships from many ports will carry the produce and the manufactures of America's heartland. The St. Lawrence Seaway is very near to reality, now. There will be excitement in seeing how it changes the Midwest.

TEAMSTER Boss James R. Hoffa was acquitted again on wiretap charges. Jimmy never was much of a one for taps. He always preferred roundhouse swings.

Wealth Faces Wealth In N.Y. Politics

WASHINGTON—Governor Averell Harriman of New York is satisfied that he will be running for re-election this fall against Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The Governor insists that present Republican activity with respect to the governorship is only a propaganda cloak for an arranged nomination with the wheeling and dealing guided by the experienced hand of Thomas E. Dewey.

At least one top-ranking New York Republican will go bail for Democrat Harriman on the Harriman conclusion, though, of course, eschewing the cynical view that it is already in the bag for Rockefeller. It must be conceded that Harriman knows the Rockefellers better than anyone else they are likely to meet on their excursions into elective politics.

IT IS ON THE basis of that long acquaintance and close association that the incumbent scion of great wealth expects to confront another scion of great wealth on the hustings next fall. Harriman seems to feel that the Rockefellers are the reverse of impulsive; when they start anything, they know where they're going.

The Republican picture offers also the near-certainty that the Senate nomination will be the consolation prize for somebody. The party seems to have no first-instance candidates for that job and to be shying away from committing itself by a sort of tacit consent.

THE NEW YORK Senate nominations this fall will be freshly minted, as the incumbent, Irving Ives, is retiring. All such nominations are eagerly sought by Democrats for various reasons.

The party is riding a trend, so the nominee has the advantage of the psychology of victory. Financing is easier with bright prospects. Then there is the fact that Democrats are widely expected to increase their Congressional majorities in November, which means that a Senate career can get off to a good start.

This is in part because representation on the all-important committees rises and falls in the same ratio as party majorities. Under the Lyndon Johnson rule, every Democratic Senator gets one good committee before any Democratic Senator gets two. So the new places have to go to the freshmen. The importance of getting a leg up on a good committee is axiomatic on Capitol Hill.

A FRESHMAN Republican, even if he makes the grade, can look to no such rule; for some reason, the Old Guard leadership has never felt impelled to adopt the Johnson reform. And with their membership whittled down on all committees, the senior Senators would be less rather than more generous.

The foregoing suggests one reason why associates of Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York think this is a good year for him to forget that famous dead end and announce as a Democratic candidate to succeed Ives.

The general view is that if Wagner insists on it, the nomination is his. It would, for one thing, dispose of the candidacy of the veteran James A. Farley.

HARRIMAN is under heavy pressure from the liberal party in New York and what might be described as the Stevenson wing of the Democrats to name former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter as his choice for Senator. If the Governor did so, they feel, Wagner would not attempt to displace Finletter..

Two facts: Harriman is a candidate for President in 1960 and will spare nothing to increase his maority this fall to help out that bid. He is in command of the situation, not the party leaders, Tammany's Carmine De Sapio included.

Hoffa Hopes Bosses Will Like Unity

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The big question raised by the new "Conference on Transportation Unity," just announced here by President James R. ("Jimmy") Hoffa of the teamsters' union, is whether it will create a labor force strong enough to tie up the country in a transport workers' strike.

The official answer given is that it would not.

"Even if all the transport workers of the country got this power," says one Hoffa aide, "they would never use it. It would be too much like using the atomic bomb. A general transportation tie-up would militate against us. It would put us in public disfavor."

What the organizers of the transportation unions' conference, called for August, are counting on is that employers will welcome it as a stabilizing influence in their industry.

Employers in the past have been whipsawed by rival unions and victimized by jurisdictional disputes.

IF UNIONS could settle these things among themselves beforehand, it is believed this would lead to more orderly collective bargaining. This might mean industry-wide contracts with uniform termination dates.

There is considerable doubt that all C. S. unions in transportation industries will affiliate with the Hoffa-inspired conference. But if all 50 of them come in they would represent about three million workers.

Hoffa estimates the number at 3.5 million. U. S. Department of Labor puts it at 2.7 million.

JOINING with Hoffa in the call for the new Transportation Unity Conference are Joe Curran of National Maritime Union and Capt. William V. Bradley of International Longshoremen's Association. N.M.U. claims 40,000 workers in 30 ports and I.L.A. 52,000 members in 286 locals.

In addition to these three, Seafarers International Union with 75,000 members is expected to join the other three in the conference organization. S.I.U. is a holding federation of autonomous unions. It includes fishermen, sailors, firemen, oilers, wipers and inland boatmen.

PAUL HALL, head of S.I.U., was unable to attend the Washington meeting at which the conference agreement was signed. But Hoffa talked with Hall by phone and was authorized by Hall to say he looked on the conference with favor. He will call officers of his unions together to consider it.

Over a million of the transportation workers are in railway brotherhoods. They usually pursue independent courses. What Hoffa is believed to be counting on to bring them together is the depressed state of railroading today. To maintain their present benefits, railroad workers may need all the support they can get from other transport unions.

Air transport workers unions, which will also be invited to join the conference, have about 145,000 members. This includes 11,000 in the Airline Pilots' Assn., 11,000 other flight personnel, 65,000 clerks and 58,000 maintenance workers in machinists and other unions.

ONE OF THE stumbling blocks in the road to transport union unity is the question of what to do about Harry Bridges and his west coast International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union. It claims 70,000 members in 83 ports.

Bridges is being invited to the August conference. But Hoffa, Curran and Bradley make clear the conference itself will make its own rules and decide who comes in.

This leaves the way open to invite Bridges out. But in this connection it is pointed out that the West Coast Conference of Teamsters—in Hoffa's own union—already has an operating pact with Bridges' longshoremen.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — New York is filled with homely thoughts and quiet philosophy. Ir the theatre, a man will say: "Don't send me no plays in which a man writes with a feather," which is this producer's way of saying he is not interested in presenting costume dramas. In the underworld, they say: "You feel you got to help somebody, help yourself." In writing circles they say: "You feel you have a message? Call Western Union."

Dolly Longren could add a fourth: "Don't be a Samaritan in New York."

Miss Longren is a tree-waterer. All it gets her, apart from personal satisfaction, is rude stares. And once a policeman.

POLICE IN New York can be odd. They can read where the city spent thousands of dollars planting trees on Third Avenue, only to have more than half of them die from neglect.

Dolly Longren didn't neglect the trees on her block, she watered them, spaded the earth and removed the torn papers and cigarette butts. One morning she had all the debris in a neat pile, went into the house to get a dustpan to pick it up and found a policeman out there with a summons for littering.

He wouldn't listen to an explanation. They never do.

IN COURT Dolly didn't explain. But 37 neighbors did, out loud, with the result that the policeman got a tongue-lashing from the magistrate for being a fool. And I'll bet you something: the same policeman would do the same thing all over again. It didn't matter to him that Dolly was saving trees and cleaning up, not creating litter. All that mattered was that he saw a pile of debris. So much for New York policemen.

HAS ANYONE, including the mayor, had the grace to thank Dolly for aerating the trees, watering them and keeping those on her block green, healthy and flourishing? No. What the Samaritan got was a sudden raise in rent in her antiques shop.

OBVIOUSLY, the path of the Samaritan is hard anywhere. In New York it is painful. Which is why injured persons often lie a long time on a sidewalk while scores walk by them unheeding. Who knows, the passersby ask themselves, what kind of mess I'll get into in court and all if I stop?

Miss Longren is from Kansas, bred and brought up on a farm. She likes trees. She thinks they have a right to live and that people who have them ought to care for them.

Her specialty is rare china from around the world. The rarest and most delicate kinds. Her shop is noted for it. Rent de-control caught her and now she has a choice: go back to Kansas or pay more rent. She is going back to Kansas.

She doesn't think much of life in New York any more.

THERE WAS a more leisurely time in our town when a white-haired woman watering trees and cleaning garbage from around them would have been helped by the best policeman. He would have pitched in. Now he pitches a summons at her for creating litter when she was only gathering it for disposal.

The neighbors on her block think she is a patient and kind woman, of which New York could use thousands more.

"THINK OF this," said Will Argulos. "The lady saves the tree for us, saves the city money, beautifies the place, gives the city love and affection, and that harness bull has to get tough and give her a summons.

"We turned out strong. We went to court for her and talked up. What ridiculousness in a modern city that a good woman is so badgered we have to lose working time to save her. We have a saying in Italian: Que porcco. What a pig.

"I think in those terms when I think of the summons and the raise in rent and all that has happened to a good woman with a love of trees. It makes one disgusted with New York."

Better To Pack Your Own

WASHINGTON — Last time I landed from an airplane in Chicago, tired and hungry, I dropped into a near North Side restaurant for a glass of beer, a hamburger and a slab of apple pie. The check was $4.50.

The waiter wore a hard-boiled shirt and a red coat and that should have been the tip-off my snack would be costly. Hamburgers can be bought for less than that in Chicago, but I imagine travelers will agree it is an expensive town in which to eat. Now I know why.

THE UNIONS there and the beanery owners spend so much money battling each other that the price of a hamburger naturally has to soar. Consider the case of The Nantucket, a fairly obscure eatery on the far South Side.

(A Chicago reporter, here for the Senate rackets committee inquiry into alleged gangster domination of some restaurant unions, described The Nantucket as a tea shoppe with chintzy curtains and a largely feminine patronage; he said he seldom ate there, himself.)

EDWARD READE, who hails from Georgia, who talks as if he had a mouthful of pecan pie and who describes himself as the proprietor of The Nantucket, said he first had union trouble in 1951 when two callers invited him to take a walk.

One of these, he said, was Abe Teitelbaum, one-time lawyer for the late Scarface Al Capone and at the time an attorney for the Chicago Restaurant Owners association. The other was Frank Trungale, union chief.

Reade said Trungale demanded as the price of peace a new Cadillac for himself, but finally settled for $500, with $150 cash down. This caused Reade to complain to the association, and he said Teitelbaum eventually gave him back the $150.

IN 1955, Reade continued, he got a notice from the union that he'd have to pay dues, because most of his 300 employes had joined. He ignored this and there appeared in front of his tea room some pickets, who tramped there for two years and two weeks.

They also poked holes into the tires of his customers' cars and smashed their windshields. One victim of a ruined windshield protested and was beaten up. These tactics discouraged the ladies who frequented The Nantucket. But what was worse was the way the union wouldn't let Reade get rid of his garbage.

"Fortunately, I had a house on the back of the lot," he told the Senators, "and I was able to fill it with garbage, but eventually I had to clean that out."

HE SAID THE union put roadblocks in the alley behind the house. He had his troubles for sure, with hardly any customers daring to enter The Nantucket, but as it turned out, his profits were greater even than before.

The records showed that the other members of the restaurant association dug deep and gave to Reade, during the time his tea shoppe was under siege, a total of $118,998.41.

This almost caused Senator John L. McClellan, the chairman, to gasp. He'd already received testimony that the union had spent well over $100,000 in its strike against The Nantucket, and by his estimate, the strike at this one minor eatery cost a total of $230,000. The customers, naturally, had to pay. No wonder the price of hamburgers all over town went up.

THE SENATORS called the portly Teitelbaum to tell among other things what he knew about The Nantucket, but he wouldn't even say where he was born, or when. Said an honest answer might tend to incriminate him.

The Senators indicated he was talking toward the jailhouse, via a contempt citation, but he just glared at 'em. When next I go to Chicago, I believe I'll pack a box lunch.

So They Say

Revere your own knowledge. Use it, and don't underrate the listener's taste. . . . Forget the (record) polls and the lists. There is too much uniformity in the country today.
—Musician Mitch Miller, advising radio disc jockeys.

There will be twice as many people in the world in 50 years as there are now, and nobody has any idea what is to stop the increases from going on even after that. Can our statesmen realize that this is by far the most important political problem of the near future?
—Sir Charles Darwin, grandson of the great evolutionist.

It's a damn shame, but we'll be trying again.
—Dr. Richard W. Porter, head of U. S. IGY satellite committee, on the most recent failure of Vanguard.

I don't think I need a private bathroom in my office. I was 15 years old before we had one in my house.
—Rep. John M. Robison Jr. (D-Ky.), complaining that office suites (three rooms, bath) in new House Office Building are too elaborate.

A bag of goodies.
—The sack dress, as described by visiting Philippines President Carlos P. Garcia.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That someone has estimated women lose more than 30 hours a year looking at mirrors and four hours a year powdering their nose. But no woman really counts this as lost time.

That when male twins reach the draft age in Argentina, only one is required to enter military service.

That Irwin H. Kramer of the Hotel Edison has this seasonal sign on his desk: "You won't complain so much about the hot weather if you are snowed under with work."

THAT IF YOU want a new taste treat, here's an old Welsh recipe for preparing seaweed: "Boil gentle, but do not overcook or else all the flavor will be lost. Mix with vinegar or lemon juice, a few drops of olive oil, pepper and salt, and serve cold on toast." After two servings of seaweed, your kids will be glad to eat spinach.

That some four million rugged Americans still take snuff. They include many women.

That the U. S. male is getting larger. A quarter century ago the average man wore a size 38 suit. Today a size 41 fits him a little tightly.

That singer Sal Mineo isn't old enough to vote, but he's just bought a $200,000 house where he will live with his parents, two brothers and a sister. Sometimes it pays to give your kids music lessons.

THAT IF A person hasn't been an alcoholic before 45, there is little danger he will become one after that age. One out of every six alcoholics is a woman.

That one thing elephants never forget is their jungle past. Even in captivity one elephant stays awake on guard while the rest of the herd sleep.

That Napoleon's favorite card game after his exile to St. Helena was solitaire.

That fewer than half of American housewives do all their food shopping at one store. The average wife trades at from two to four stores.

That you were probably born with 270 bones, but you'll die with only 206. The missing 64 merge with others during infancy.

That Kate Smith, who earned 30 million dollars during 27 years of singing, never spoke until she was four years old. Probably because nobody made her a contract offer.

MEXICO CITY—They were electing a President in our Sister Republic, and I am almost morbidly attracted by Presidential elections because so many interesting things, and people, come of them. So I flew down here, and was fortunate enough to be ushered almost straightaway into an interview with President-elect Adolfo Lopez-Mateos.

The man who will direct the destinies of Mexico for the next six years turned out to be one of the most fascinating personalities I have interviewed in a long time. He's had about as varied a career as you can have. He's been a university dean, district attorney, and labor relations expert. Somehow the three don't quite seem to go together.

Lopez-Mateos is a surprisingly soft-spoken man. For a politician, he has no voice at all. Yet he's a spellbinder. In little above a magnified whisper he has delivered more than one hundred major speeches all over Mexico and turned huge audiences almost hysterical.

He has traveled 28,000 miles inside the Republic since last November by almost every type of conveyance still available in this rapidly-modernizing country. He had to go by small boat to many meeting places off both coasts. He didn't do any touring by burro because a burro is becoming as difficult to charter in Mexico as a mule in Independence, Missouri.

THIS QUIET MAN also has a quiet sense of humor. He subscribes to the throwaway style of humor. If you aren't attending closely, his sallies are apt to whizz by you.

He remarked that one of the major problems he will have to face after he is inaugurated President next Dec. 1 is the crying need for more schools. He said, dropping his voice even lower, that it was going to be quite a race.

I said, "I'm sorry, Senor El Presidente, but I'm afraid I booted that one. Did you say it was going to be quite a race?"

"I did," he grinned shyly, "a race between the government making schools and fathers making children."

Lopez-Mateos is 48, but he's got thick black curly hair. He's a handsome man. This is the first Mexican Presidential election in which women were allowed to vote. He's the idol of these new voters — and makes no bones about it. He was asked if he thought Mexican women had voted the way their husbands told them to vote. He grinned that it was unthinkable.

"All right," I persisted, "let's be more realistic about this. Do you think that many husbands voted the way their wives told them to?"

"I don't think so," he replied with a pixy grimace. "If they had, I'd have gotten 90 per cent more votes."

THE MEXICANS take the privilege of voting much more seriously than we do. It's against the law here for an eligible voter not to vote. The law has teeth in it too. Any person who fails to vote, and have a stamped registration certificate to show for it, can never run for any elective office in Mexico.

I suggested that this would exert pressure only on Mexicans with political ambitions.

"How," I asked the new President-elect, "are you going to put the heat on rank-and-file voters?"

"We're not going to put on any heat," replied the victorious candidate of the Party of Revolutionary Institutions. We are going to educate people. This is a continuous process. We are going to keep educating them that it is every citizen's sacred duty to vote."

The former Dean of the University of Toluca declared he intended to do everything to further cordial relations with the United States. But then he added, quietly but sententiously:

"Understanding between nations is a wonderful thing—but if it benefits only one of the nations it is not much of an understanding."

SHIFT IN OIL POWER — A dramatic change in the position of the United States as an oil power is shown in Newschart above. While America still leads in world oil production, U. S. reserves (oil still underground) are estimated today at 33 billion barrels as against 169 billion barrels in the Middle East. No major oil field (100 million barrels or more) has been discovered in the United States since 1953. Data from a recent study by Leonard M. Fanning, editor of World Petroleum Polices.

New Oldtown Fire Outfit Joins Group

Oakland Firm Gets Insurance Contract With Association

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association has accepted into membership the recently organized Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company.

A letter of application was read at the monthly meeting of the association held yesterday in Oakland and the membership welcomed the new company into the the two-county group, which now has 31 companies on its roster, 21 in Allegany County and eight in Garrett County.

The fire truck of the newest member of the association is completely equipped and ready to respond to calls, according to Fire Chief Russell Hose.

The 43-member unit meets on the first and third Mondays each month at the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club. Officials of the organization are seeking land on which to construct a fire hall.

In reporting fires, residents of the area should call PA 2-1195, Chief Hose said.

In other business yesterday, a report of the hospital fund of the Ladies Auxiliary Unit of Maryland shows that 16 members of the two-county association received benefits in the past year.

Homer Ambrose of McCoole reported that the insurance bid of the Gortner Insurance Agency of Oakland had been accepted.

The policy covers firemen in the performance of duties as volunteers. At present, 59 pieces of fire-fighting equipment are covered by the insurance.

A motion was made and carried that the association secretary send to the state secretary an up-to-date list of deceased firemen for the annual state memorial service held each June.

Invocation at the meeting was by Felix Foote, of Lonaconing, chaplain. A lunch was served by the host company.

Plane Crash Site Marked

PAN SINEIVE, Italy — (UPI) —Italian Alpinists yesterday dedicated a mountain monument to two U. S. Navy planes which crashed a year ago killing 20 persons.

All but one member of the 10-man crew of the search plane died. All 11 persons aboard the other plane were killed.

The monument's shaped like an airplane and bears the names of the dead American fliers.

Steve And Eydie Prove Selves On Hour Show

By FRED DANZIC

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Only a greyhound pup named Steverino remains behind this summer on what was "the Steve Allen Show."

Allen's summer replacements, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme, are wisely placing their emphasis on music instead of comedy. Their opening show on NBC-TV last night proved that these two youngsters, Mr. and Mrs. in private life, have what it takes to handle an hour-long show.

Aside from being fine pop singers, they bring to their work good cheer, good taste and a frightening amount of poise. Only some introductory chatter about their marriage seemed forced and uncomfortable.

Last night's premiere had enough electronic, musical and artistic changes of pace to make a fast-moving hour and the sets were properly uncluttered. Guest stars Margaret O'Brien, Jackie Cooper, Basso Buffo Salvatore Baccaloni and Shari Lewis were all given material aimed at showing them off to best advantage.

I guess Steve and Eydie will be around for a long time. All they seem to need is a fair-sized budget. They'll supply the talent.

An SOS For "Esp"

The newest ABC-TV quiz, ostensibly dedicated to the fascinating subject of Esp, or extra-sensory perception, wafted into our living rooms on Friday with a format about as solid as ectoplasm.

Beneath all its psychic hocus-pocus we find a simple game in which contestants, called "Sensitives," try to guess what cards Emcee Vincent Price has pulled from a pack.

Producer George Wolf promised us "unusual experiments" on this show and we're still awaiting them. Anyhow, Friday's contestants scored five hits out of 21 guesses, which doesn't cost the sponsor much money or raise any excitement. I think the trouble is that ESP is too personal and unpredictable a phenomenon to flourish in this public showcase. His own ESP should have warned Emcee Price to steer clear of this trained quiz show.

Kid Proves Cowboys Are Only On TV

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A few weeks ago Joe Vanducci, a diligent father, decided he should be spending more of his vacation time with his 10-year-old son, Bones.

This, he quickly discovered, involved mainly sitting in front of the television set laughing (and sneering) at the dusty progression of cowboy heroes channeled into Los Angeles each week on 23 Westerns.

Although a bit saddle-sore after successive days of Western alarums, Vanducci later explained that his biggest surprise was his son's cynical attitude toward the cowboys.

"To me," he explained, "cowboys had been a kind of lifelong inspiration. I admired and believed in them. I wished I could go out and ride the range with them right then."

When father Vanducci confided this secret ambition to his son, the boy gave him a long look of pity.

"Who're you kidding?" he said. "There ain't any cowboys."

Vanducci jumped at what he thought was a golden opportunity to educate his city son in the realities of the West. He resolved then and there to take the boy to a real, old-time cattle ranch and show him how wrong he was.

After considerable search and effort, he arranged for a visit to a 90,000 acre cattle ranch 130 miles southeast of this home range of Marshal Dillon, Wyatt Earp, Paladin and all the rest of Bones' shootin', ridin', heroes. This is what he found:

The ranch yard looked more like a lot used for trucks and farm implements than a corral.

A modern cowboy who used a rope on a steer would be fired, as roping makes steers nervous and puts them off their feed for four or five days, which in turn makes them lose weight and the ranch owner lose money.

The dozen cowboys working on the ranch ranged in age between 40 and 70, and all but three of them were bespectacled, paunchy, and vitally interested in such things as Social Security and income taxes.

None of the cowboys carried a gun — against the law.

One intrepid horseman had a saddle with a foam rubber seat and four carried transistor radios in saddle pouches on the rare occasions they had to be alone with the cattle.

These cowboys of the modern West hung around the ranch yard and bought their supplies — frozen meat and vegetables — from a refrigerated truck which came by three times a week.

American newspaperman Samuel Bowles, who died in 1878, used the term "hell on wheels" to describe the camps built every few miles on the route of railroad tracks expanding westward in the United States.

Moonshiner Only Drank His Whisky

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Edward Winston Mukes, 62, pleaded guilty to a moonshining charge but then offered U.S. District Judge Stephen Chandler a novel excuse.

"One way I'm guilty and the other way I'm not," Mukes said. "I've made lots of whisky for drinking, but I never sold a drop."

Chandler placed Mukes on five years probation.

New York Opens New Canine Comfort Unit

Eighteen of the pooches ignored the conveniences. The other two used a nearby curb.

Property Owners Urged To Report

Persons who have purchased property in the city since March 1 are urged by Mrs. Lucille Roeder, finance commissioner, to notify the city tax office and to register the name of the new owner and the address.

The information is needed so the office can make correct addressograph plates for the property so tax statements may be mailed to the correct address.

Some new plates have been made and the records must be brought up to date so the 12,000 statements may be mailed to the proper owners.

Stockholding With Young People Gains

1954 Law Results In Huge Upswing, U. S. Check Shows

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)— A doting uncle has just given his New Jersey nephew some oil stock instead of a check on his graduation from high school.

A California youngster found a chain grocery store's stock in his Christmas stocking.

School students in an Utica, N. Y., mathematics class pooled their dimes to buy a food company's shares. And when they couldn't distribute a 10 cent dividend equally, they shared a bag of jelly beans instead.

It's a rare stockholders meeting these days that doesn't find the chairman of the board having his picture taken with some moppet attending on his own right as a part owner of the concern.

Stockholding by minors has been growing rapidly in the last few years, helped since 1954 by the spread among the states of a law called the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act which enables youngsters to own stocks through a custodian.

The New York Stock Exchange says the volume of securities transactions under this legislation is approaching 50 million dollars a year. This month the 42nd state in the union put into effect such a law. It also has been voted by Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia.

How many children receive stock gifts is unknown. But in 1956 a survey of stock ownership by the exchange placed the number of stockholding minors at 200,000 —some getting their shares by inheritance, some as gifts and some saving up their own earnings.

Under the new state laws an adult can give securities to a child by simply registering the stock in the name of a custodian; usually a parent or relative. The gift is irrevocable and the minor takes over this property when he becomes 21.

The laws permit the custodian to buy, sell and reinvest and collect dividends, provided he exercises normal standards of prudence and discretion.

SALLY RAND STILL ACTIVE—Remarkably well preserved at 54, Sally Rand poses with adopted son, Sean Lalla, 9, and her poodle, Tovick, at the Last Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas where she's still waving those ostrich plumes. She says she's still fan dancing so she can settle matters with the Internal Revenue Service, although she thinks her future lies in a scientific career. (AP Photofax)

Fan Dancer Sally Rand Still Performing At 54

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Whatever happened to Sally Rand?

At a remarkable well preserved 54, she is still waving those ostrich feathers. While she's not doing it with a physics book in one hand, she claims her future lies in a scientific career. Yes, you heard it right—Sally Rand.

"I've been going to school," she announced proudly as she lounged beside a hotel pool in a Mau-Mau, one of those formless Polynesian costumes that covered her from neck to toe.

"It took some doing, because I never graduated from high school. But I was allowed to take some courses through the University of California. I took physics, math, chemistry and psychology. And I'm proud to say that I had a 95 average.

"I'm also proud of something else. You know all the tests and records of the university are kept by business machines. Well, the American Cyanamid Co., which has a plant in Azusa near my home town of Glendora, Calif., went through the files for employment possibilities. They pulled out my name and offered me a job starting at $300 a month. Not bad, Huh!"

Does this mean she will give up the fast-flowing fans?

"You can't predict those things," she said. "I wanted to. I had hoped to continue school last winter. But I have problems with the tax boys. I had to go out on the road to make more money."

She's been doing just that most of her life. Since starting 40 years ago, she has played almost every city of any size in the nation. Her big break came when she flipped the feathers at the 1933 Chicago World's Fair.

"That wasn't just accident," she commented. "It was the result of careful planning and exploitation. I paid top money for the best minds in the business. I had to have people I could depend on. After all, there's nothing more vulnerable than a naked fan dancer."

Sally is happily married now to Fred Lalla, a building contractor. The delight of her life is her adopted son, Sean, 9, who has been with her during her stint at the Silver Slipper here. She watched with delight as Sean swam the length of the pool—"and he only learned to swim two weeks ago."

Joint Leaders Meet Again About River

Commissioners Face Age-Old Question Of Potomac River

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Joint commissioners burdened with the task of resolving the age-old problem of jurisdiction on the Potomac River assemble here today in a conference they hope will bring the first major agreement on how to approach the problem.

The formal session is expected to correlate testimony taken in lengthy public hearings Saturday at La Plata, Md., and at Warsaw, Va.

Last night the 10 commissioners took time out for social activity in the form of a reception and dinner. Gov. and Mrs. Lindsay Almond of Virginia were the special guests for the affair.

At Warsaw Saturday a Virginia legislator, Del. W. Tayloe Murphy, who represents a district with a shoreline on the Potomac, predicted the General Assembly of his state would be willing to delegate broad powers to a bi-state commission administering conservation laws.

Uniform Laws

Murphy also said he thought the Virginia lawmakers would be willing to put up its share of funds necessary for enforcement and propagation of the river's resources.

Earlier the bi-state study group, made up of five Virginia lawmakers and five attorneys and former judges of Maryland, had heard from Maryland watermen and legislators at La Plata. They generally endorsed uniform laws for the river as the only means of solving the problems.

Thus the idea of a bi-state commission to keep peace on the Potomac seemed to be the plan most prominent in the commission's thinking as the conference got underway.

Virginia State Sen. Mills E. Godwin of Suffolk and Baltimore attorney Carlyle Barton, chairmen of the respective state commissions, had previously stated their major goals appeared to be a set of uniform laws for the river and a bi-state agency to administer them.

Sharp Differences

Godwin said if such recommendations can be agreed on today they will still have to be spelled out into law by legal aides and possibly discussed further before being submitted to the governors of the two states.

Sharp differences between the conservation laws of the states have led to frequent clashes between Maryland enforcement officers and Virginia fishermen and prompted the Maryland Legislature in 1957 to repeal a 272-year-old compact with Virginia covering use of the Maryland-owned river.

Virginia sued Maryland because of the revocation act and took the dispute to the U. S. Supreme Court. The present study commission was appointed to reach an out-of-court settlement by Oct. 13.

Keech Gets Post With Water Co.

At a meeting of officials of the Evitts Creek Water Company yesterday, Mayor J. Edwin Keech was elected vice president and a director of the company.

Charles Koontz, Bedford, Pa., was renamed attorney; Former Mayor Thomas S. Post was re-elected president, and James Twigg, clerk in the Water Department office, was reelected secretary.

Koontz briefed the city officials who were also present, on the operation of the Pennsylvania corporation which holds title to all property owned by the Water Department in Bedford County, Pa.

The city owns all of the stock of the corporation which was formed in 1911 when the filtration plant at Lake Gordon was built.

$1,100 Given In Jury Case

A jury in Circuit Court yesterday afternoon awarded Saul Mauzy a total of $1,100 in a land condemnation suit brought by the State Roads Commission.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the hearing of the case in which the state agency sought title to .41 of an acre of land which was used in the modernization of U. S. Route 40 in the Flintstone area.

The SRC deposited a check for $450 with the clerk of court when the suit was filed some time ago as the offer for the tract, located in the rear of Mauzy's property.

D. C. Goodfellow, local realtor, testified concerning the valuation placed on the land. He said the entire property value was $7,855 before the strip of .41 of an acre was taken and afterward the valuation was set at $7,162.49. Total damage based on his survey was $693.20.

The jury visited the scene after hearing testimony, got the case about 2 p. m. and reached its verdict of $1,100 by 2:55 p. m.

Judge Harris excused the jury pending further notification. He said a couple of jury cases are scheduled for next week. Foreman of yesterday's jury was Mrs. Ernest B. Treat.

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents killed four persons in Maryland during the weekend. Two of the victims were toddlers.

State Trooper E. L. Dedmon of the Waldorf barracks said she was struck by a car driven by James M. Gates, 22, of Indian Head. Gates himself was suffering from shock and was treated at the dispensary of the U. S. Naval powder factory.

Other weekend victims included:

Baltimorean Lists $7,075 Loss In Theft

BALTIMORE (AP) — Samuel Kaufman told Northern District police Sunday that $7,075 in jewelry, furs and cash had been stolen from his apartment.

Kaufman said the apartment had been "turned upside down" Saturday night, with the contents of some drawers dumped on the floor. A chair had been jammed against the inside of the apartment door and police said the burglars apparently had entered and left through a rear kitchen window which had been forced open.

The missing jewelry, Kaufman said, included three rings — one of them his wife's engagement ring. Also missing were two wrist watches, a necklace, a white fox fur collar, a radio and $100 in cash.

SPAIN: BACKSTOP TO NATO—The unsettled political situation in France, kingpin of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, has focused attention on Spain and the complex of United States air bases there. Begun in 1953, the 350-million-dollar military building program is about 85 per cent completed. Some 5,000 American servicemen are stationed in Spain; the number is expected to double within a year. The air bases provide a supplement to NATO bases elsewhere in Europe. Map above locates American bases (underlined). They include four major airfields, an air supply depot, seven radar sites, a Navy fuel and ammunition depot and a four-million-dollar communications center. Largest field is at Torrejon, near the capital of Madrid. Its 13,400-foot runways are Europe's largest. A 50-million-dollar, 485-mile underground pipeline ties the bases together, connecting storage facilities for four million barrels of fuel. Spain, with a population of 29 million, is a country twice the size of Wyoming, sharing the Iberian Peninsula with Portugal. It's location is especially strategic.

Sites Sought For Shellfish Laboratory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service are checking a number possible Eastern Shore sites for a new $180,000 shellfish research laboratory.

Sen. Butler (R-Md) and Rep. Miller (R-Md), in a joint announcement, said actual construction of the new laboratory should be started within the next six to eight months.

The new lab will replace present facilities at Annapolis and "definitely will be located on the Eastern Shore."

"The exact site, however, will be determined on the basis of various technical criteria such as water salinity, freedom from pollution and other standards important to research activities," the statement said. "A single-story structure is contemplated, the exact design of which will be compatible with the site selected.

"The facilities of the new laboratory will be used for extensive research into oyster seeding processes, oyster drill control and various aspects of clam research. The laboratory will also handle important research activities on other species of shellfish found in the Chesapeake."

Fountain Pen Test Failure

Several days after the conversion from the old-type pens only one ball-point pen remained in a post office—in Lausanne.

Youth Shot Accidentally

NATRONA, Pa. (AP)—Ronald Kowalski, 16, of Natrona, was accidentally shot and killed Sunday by John Sosinski, 17, son of Harrison Twp. Police Chief Alex Sosinski.

Allegheny County detectives said John had taken Ronald and another youth, Stanley Malak, 16, of Natrona, into the dining room of his home and was showing them his father's .38 caliber service revolver.

Young Sosinski told officers he thought the safety catch was on but in some manner the gun discharged, hitting Kowalski above the right eye.

Jordan Frees Two Children

JERUSALEM, Israel—(UPI)—Jordanian officials yesterday handed over to Israeli officials two Israeli children arrested June 26 when they strayed across the border at Aquaga.

The boy, Simon Raskov, and the girl, Liea Storm, said the Jordinians had "treated us very well." The transfer was made at the Mandlebaum Gate under the supervision of the Mixed Armistice Commission.

Traffic Over U. S. 50 Up

BALTIMORE (AP)—More traffic is flowing into Ocean City this year than last, but it's not coming from Baltimore.

The State Roads Commission, reporting a breakdown on traffic on principal roads throughout Maryland during the first 5 months of 1958, said traffic over U. S. 50 into Ocean City was up over the same period last year.

But 21.2 per cent fewer cars went across the Chesapeake Bay bridge this year. The commission blamed this partly on diversion of some through north-south traffic to the Baltimore Harbor tunnel.

Husband Held In Death Of Invalid Wife

PITTSBURGH (AP)—James Farbaugh, 45, has been held on a murder charge in the slaying of his estranged 300-pound invalid wife.

Mrs. Farbaugh, 48, was found stabbed to death Sunday in her North Side room, which was rigged with an intricate system of ropes to help her get in and out of her bed and wheelchair.

Police quoted Raymond Bower, 46, as saying he and Mrs. Farbaugh were watching television in her room Sunday when Farbaugh knocked on the door and demanded that he be allowed in. Bower then left by a back door because he was afraid of Farbaugh, he told police.

Tragedy Mars Vacation Time

WHITE LAKE, N. C. (AP) — Tragedy marred the vacation of a Maryland couple whose 4½ year old son drowned here.

Police reported the body of the child, Henry Tisdale III, was found near a public pier Saturday night. His parents had reported him missing a few hours earlier.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tisdale Jr. of Laurel, Md. They had come to White Lake from Clinton, N. C., where the boy's grand-parents live.

Water Service Complaints Aired

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Mingo Public Service Co. had a date with the Public Service Commission today to answer complaints about its water service to about 150 residents in the Chattaroy, Mingo County, area.

The company had been ordered to show cause at the hearing why it should not be directed to make whatever improvements are necessary to enable it to render efficient and adequate service to its customers at all times.

The PSC said it has received numerous complaints that the service is interrupted for long periods, that there is insufficient pressure and the water is often discolored and odorous.

Mason Given Extension Of His Contract

Recreation Director Will Serve City For Six More Months

The contract of C. Eugene Mason as recreation director was renewed for six months by the Mayor and Council today.

Street Commissioner John J. Long pointed out that the temporary appointment was no reflection on Mason and added, the director had done "a commendable job so far as I know."

But he pointed out it is necessary until council decides what action it will take on reappointment of the Recreation Board, members of which resigned during the previous administration in a disagreement over policies affecting board powers and those of council.

Mason's previous contract was for a year and expired today. His salary remains the same, $375 monthly.

Janitor Named

In another appointive action, council named Clarence H. Smith, 29 Water Street, as janitor at the Police Department at a salary of $234.50 a month. Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming pointed out Smith is a replacement and not an additional employe.

A number of Recreation Department season employe replacements, new personnel and status changes were approved. These included:

Minke Seeks Aid In River Boat Problem

Speeders Causing Much Disturbance In Potomac Eddies

Indiscrimiate speeding of high-powered outboard motor boats on the Potomac Revir has resulted in the regional game warden for Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties deciding to seek assistance from legal authorities.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said he will meet this week with Omer T. Kaylor Jr., state's attorney of Washington County as a result of a collision of a speed boat with a State Game and Inland Fish Commission patrol craft.

The warden said James Henry Miller, 333 Radcliffe Avenue, Hagerstown, was fined $50 and costs when tried in Hagerstown on a charge of operating a boat in a reckless manner.

Mt. Savage Man On Boat

Miller's small skiff powered by a 50-horsepower motor ran into the boat carrying Lawrence Fiorita, Mt. Savage, and Claude Cline, Hagerstown, both game wardens.

Minke said the two wardens were patrolling the river just east of the Allegany County line recently when Miller's boat, operated recklessly, got too close and hit the rear end of the patrol craft, damaging the motor.

The two wardens were in civilian clothes and they presented Miller with a summons for the reckless charge.

The regional game warden said a law was passed last year concerning the operation of boats on the river.

Condition Caused Law

This legislation resulted from the increasing numbers of the speeding boats on the long eddies of the Potomac, he said.

The river in Allegany and Washington counties is too narrow for power boats.

Minke said the many fishermen from this section who enjoy the Potomac are being disturbed by the boats who come too close to them.

Some eddies have from 30 to 40 boats going at one time, and Minke said the speeding is going to be curtailed before some one gets killed.

Many Complaints

He pointed out that the game commission uses only a ten horsepower motor on its patrol boat, giving it the ability to go at speeds up to 20 miles per hour.

Game officials feel that this speed is fast enough for the river.

Because of the large number of complaints filed with Minke on the river activities of the speed boat owners, the regional game warden said he would discuss the matter with State's Attorney Kaylor.

The law governing the operation of power boats on the river calls for fines of from $25 to $100 for convictions on violations.

Street Work Procedure In City Aired

Long Welcomes Visits To Whole Council On Requests

Street Commissioner John J. Long today said he welcomed personal appearances of citizens before the Mayor and Council where matters pertaining to his department were to be discussed.

Long said he preferred this method so that all members of council could hear the report rather than by telephoning him alone or other members of the official family.

He spoke in regards to the presentation of a complaint by a resident of North End and said he was "happy you are here." Lawrence I. Matt had appeared in regards to repairs of Forest Lane.

Work To Be Catalogued

Long said he was new at his department and could only learn by asking questions. He said his previous statements concerning his department were intended to bring citizens before council to present their problems and added that projects must be catalogued and those of most importance taken first or as money is available according to information supplied by the finance commissioner.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, the new finance commissioner, said that as finance commissioner, she and other members of council are dependent upon the decisions made by Long concerning these projects which must come from the Street Department budget. She said Long seemed to imply that it was her job to see that this money was made available.

Not Implying Anything

Long replied he wanted to make it clear he "was not implying anything." He said what he has seen of the department work in the past week indicates "It is a tremendous job."

He said if he finds the department can not do certain projects because it does not have the money, he is going to say so. And if the department finds it does have the money "Then we will do it."

Emergency Heart Equipment Bought

Sudden death attributed to cardiac arrest (heart stoppage)."

Fewer deaths will be reported in this area for the above reason following the purchase by the County United Fund of electronic equipment to be used in the prevention of death from heart stoppage during operations and in other emergencies, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, president of Memorial Hospital staff and CUF executive committee member, said today.

The equipment—to be used absolutely free for any resident of the CUF area at any time—and at the discretion of the attending physician—was ordered purchased by the CUF executive committee following recommendations of the National Heart Institute, Bethesda, Md., and the Lahey Clinic, Boston, Mass.

Local specialists lending their backing to the purchase, Dr. Hodges said, are Dr. L. E. Daugherty, president of the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical Faculty; Dr. Calvin Hadidian, thoracic (chest) surgeon; Dr. W. F. Williams, Dr. W. A. Van Ormer, and Dr. S. M. Jacobson, specialists in internal medicine.

To Arrive August 1

"The first set of electronic heart monitors and stimulators, purchased out of CUF reserves set aside for national health agencies but refused by these bodies because of national policies," Dr. Hodges stated, "will arrive here August 4 and will be set up at Memorial Hospital, where the staff has already approval of them.

"County United Fund stands ready to provide additional equipment for other hospitals of the CUF area," he continued, "if experience here parallels that in other center where these instruments are in use. In a short time, medical experience will dictate the degree of need for the instruments throughout the area."

He said that two patients' lives were saved during the past month directly through the use of identical equipment by the staff of Lahey Clinic. Locally, he said it is felt that the death of at least one otherwise healthy patient could have been prevented if the equipment—which is completely automatic—had been available to detect heart stoppage and go to work with immediate electrical stimulation of the organ until it began again to function normally.

Cites Instances

Citing other instances of the use of the instruments, he said that one patient's heart was kept beating by electrical impulses for 103 hours before it was able to take up its normal functions. The case of a woman patient, he said, has been widely publicized because she has been "brought back to life" 20 times by equipment identical with that which CUF is providing here.

Specifically, the instruments purchased by CUF are a combination electrocardioscope and pacemaker; and external and internal defibrillator; and a portable pacemaker which can be run on dry batteries or plugged into AC current. All have been developed by Dr. Paul M. Zoll, who has long been a leader in research into cardiac arrest, or heart stoppage, in cooperation with electronic engineers.

Tracing developments in cardiac arrest, where the heart actually stops beating, and in heart fibrillation, in which the heart wall fails to contract and the muscles of the wall simply quiver, Dr. Hodges said that during the past ten or 15 years it was possible to save a life by the immediate recognition of these conditions, where a highly skilled surgeon was available, who, in the short space of four minutes, had to open the chest cavity and massage the heart with his hands.

Equipment Perfected

About five years ago, he pointed out, the first efforts were made to stimulate the heart in such cases by sending electrical impulses through the chest walls. The result, he said, is that the equiment coming here has been perfected and now takes the guess-work out of cardiac arrest and begins immediate treatment.

"You might say we now have automation in the operating room," he said. "Just as an electronic instrument can detect a broken or faulty piece of equipment and signal a machine operator in a factory, at the same time setting a substitute operation in motion automatically," all medical personnel in an operating room will be able to see and hear the heart-beats of the patient on the electrocardioscope —which resembles a television set."

Trouble Signalled

"Should the heart stop," he went on, "which sometimes happens in persons who have had no previous sign of heart trouble, the visual and audible beats on the screen of the 'scope will stop, a high-noted signal will be given as an added alert, and the Pacemaker, which had been previous-

1,600 Kelly Workers Get Pay Increase

Eight Cent Hourly Boost Approved By Local 26 Members

Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, yesterday approved unanimously a general wage increase of eight cents an hour for all hourly-rated employes of Kelly Springfield Tire Company here.

Negotiations between the company and Local 26 were brought to a successful completion Friday afternoon. A general membership meeting for ratification or rejection of the agreement was scheduled yesterday by A. E. Johnson, president of the Local.

A spokesman for the union said the general meeting was well attended. There was no dissenting vote, and the members were "pretty well pleased" with the agreement, he said.

The wage boost is effective July 7 and will affect about 1,600 Kelly employes. At the same time they agreed that the pension and insurance agreement may be reopened along with the basic labor agreement next spring.

The agreement reached here follows an industry pattern set two weeks ago when Goodyear and Goodrich locals settled wage issues for an eight-cent-an-hour increase after deferring discussions on pensions and insurance issues.

Negotiating for the union were William Sheetz, William O'Neil, Richard Dye, George Simmons and Johnson who presented a report at yesterday's ratification meeting.

Heller Joins Parley Group

Andrew H. Heller, street superintendent, joined the city's "official family" today.

Heller was invited by Street Commissioner John J. Long to sit with other department heads and members of the Mayor and Council chamber. Long said Heller would be of great assistance in helping council with questions on streets which might arise.

Heller said it marked the first time he had been requested to sit with council and Long said the action was taken because streets and sewers are an important part of city work. Heller said he did the best job he could and Long replied "Your record speaks for itself."

New Council Gets Down To Business

Water Line, Parking Lot, Damage Claim Among Items Handled

Cumberland's new Mayor and Council held its first full public session today, considered a number of old and new business matters and got its initial taste of complaints.

Because of necessary briefing before the start, the session was seven minutes late getting underway. Several reports were read and filed before council took up matters carried over from the previous council.

Among these were: Requests of Sunset View Real Estate and Development Company (Frank and Winfield Burton) which wants the city to take over a water line constructed from the city water tank on Braddock Road to its development. Frank Burton, according to city records, has said the line was built with the understanding it would be turned over to the city when completed.

Attorney Gets Work

However, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said today he saw no advantage to taking over maintenance of the line located outside the city limits. It was referred to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light and City Attorney William R. Carscaden for investigation.

Requests for a parking lot and used car lot permits were referred to Carscaden as were a claim for damages from M. A. McRae, Algonquin Hotel, who alleged injuries suffered in a fall on Baltimore Street bridge last March 13; and a request for the closing of an alley running parallel to Sanford Street which has been recommended by the city engineer, Charles R. Nuzum.

Appearing before council were Lawrence I. Matt, 804 Maplewood Lane, who asked that Forest Lane which provides access to his garage, be repaired and weeds cut and Harvey G. Rowe, 439 Dorn Avenue, who asked council the status of plans to increase water pressure there.

Cites Lot Ownership

T. L. Popp, 229-231 North Lee Street, asked that council correct the wrong impression of ownership of a partially burned structure on Williams Street.

Popp spoke at length on several matters pertaining to the city and his years here but said he was particularly interested in having ownership of the Williams Street property clarified.

He exhibited a deed to council which he said proved he was not the owner but was told by Carscaden that the matter is in the hands of Circuit Court and the city could take no action. Carscaden added that previous attempts to have the owners remove the burned structure had not met with success and the court suit was the result. He added council could take no action until the court acts.

Former Humane Officer Given National Award

Charles Welsh, this city, former local humane officer known throughout the area as "the dog catcher with a heart," has been awarded the National Humane League award for his work.

The award was made at a recent meeting of the league at Bedford Springs Hotel. Welsh was singled out for the honor for his invention of a specially-designed trap to capture wild dogs without injuring them. He demonstrated his invention at Imlertown during the league convention.

James D. Simco, league president, made the presentation to Welsh at the convention attended by officials from 15 states.

Working in cooperation with Cumberland city police and under jurisdiction of the city-county Health Department, Welsh for many years concentrated on ridding the area of stray dogs. But at the same time he was careful not to sneak dogs or other pets away from children. On many occasions, he made special efforts to return pets.

In one instance he was asked by a woman to pick up a dog belonging to her granddaughter. The woman said she considered the dog a pest. Welsh took the dog but instead of destroying it, kept it at the city pound. Some days later, he received a call from the woman asking that the dog be returned and explaining the child's health was affected after losing the pet.

Welsh went to the pound. The dog was gone. It had been given to a representative of the Army who collects strays for use as "guinea pigs" in places where atomic blasts are tried.

Welsh made a hurried trip to Everett, Pa., where the Army keeps the dogs and recovered the girl's pet.

The reunion, he said, was as touching a scene as he has ever witnessed. The child quickly recovered.

Welsh had served the city as humane officer for several years until the county dog law went into effect and the program went under jurisdiction of the county.

Report Made On Oak Wilt Control Plan

CHARLESTON—Officials of the State Department of Agriculture said today that oak wilt control crews had discovered and treated over 300 trees during the first three weeks of the 1958 control program, and that this is over 100 trees more than was found during the same period last year.

It is too early to say whether this increase in the number of trees found indicates a more rapid spread of the disease, Commissioner of Agriculture John T. Johnson stated.

Work started June 15 on the annual oak wilt control program. The state has been divided into five districts with from one to seven two-man crews working in each district. Six airplanes were placed under contract on July 1, to supplement the one state-owned plane of the Conservation Commission Forestry Division, to locate diseased trees from the air.

Johnson said the oak wilt disease will kill all kinds of oaks and that trees in the oak family make up at least 50 per cent of the forest in the Mountain State.

Since insufficient cooperative funds were appropriated for a state-wide survey, the Federal Forest Service is cooperating financially for another year with the West Virginia agencies. In addition, two men from the Division of Forest-Disease-Research of the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station, Upper Darby, Pa., will be in the state during part of the summer.

They will establish a series of study plots in an attempt to learn more about the effectiveness of the different control measures being applied to wilting trees in various states.

Judge Grants New Trial In Slander Suit

HAGERSTOWN — Because of an error in his instructions to the jury, Judge D. K. McLaughlin has granted a new trial in the slander suit of Cecil E. Lewis against Robert Broderick and the Accelerated Transport-Pony Express.

A motion for the new trial had been filed by attorneys representing the defendant company, but Judge McLaughlin in a written memorandum said the court was acting of its own violation in directing the Clerk of Court to strike out the verdict returned last week.

The jury in the case returned separate verdicts against the defendants, $10,000 against Broderick and $5,000 against the Accelerated Transport-Pony Express. However, under the law serparate verdicts in this particular case could not be returned so the court ordered the same set aside and a new trial granted.

In his memorandum Judge McLaughlin explained that he had in mind at the time he instructed the jury that the plaintiff was suing two separate defendants when as a matter of fact the declaration contains just one count only.

The verdict as returned is obviously a nullity and the court of its own violition because of error in its charge to the jury is setting aside and on its own motion is granting a new trial, Judge McLaughlin outlined. He added that it should be pointed out that it would be improper to instruct any jury to bring in a verdict against Broderick because such instruction would be tantamount to directing a verdict against the corporation because the allegation in the declaration is to the effect that Broderick was acting as an officer when he made the slanderout statement.

Lewis, the plaintiff, operates a truck shop near Oakland and it was argued by his attorney, William J. Dwyer, that Broderick, while acting in the capacity of safety director for the AT-PE, made slanderous statements against Lewis' place of business at a meeting held here in October, 1956. Broderick is no longer with the AT-PE.

In his arguments to the jury Francis H. Urner, attorney for the defendant company, argued that Broderick was acting outside the scope of his employment and was therefore not acting as an agent for the Accelerated Transport-Pony Express.

Broderick made no defense to the suit.

West Virginia Poultrymen Set Conclave

MORGANTOWN — July 30-31 and August 1 are the days that have been set aside for this year's state poultry convention to be held at Moorefield, Hardy County, according to Harold M. Hyre, associate poultry husbandman at West Virginia University, who heads the publicity committee for the event.

The program will get under way at 2 p.m. (EST) on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 30, with the annual business meeting of the West Virginia Poultry Association.

The program this year will be made up of nationally known personalities, Hyre said. Included in the group of speakers will be Earl Crouse, St. Louis, of the Doane Agricultural Service. "Crouse is one of the nation's foremost authorities on 'Contract Farming,' which is a subject of vital interest to poultry growers. He has some logical reasoning as to what is likely to develop along this line," Hyre explained. "Producers need to look ahead and to keep in step with the rapid changes that are taking place in the poultry industry. These poultry meetings in Moorefield will be an excellent place to get the latest information."

Paul Margolf, of the Pennsylvania State University faculty, will speak on "Poultry Processing." Margolf is a splendid speaker and a specialist in the field of his subject, Hyre pointed out.

The subject of turkeys will be handled by M. C. Small, secretary of the National Turkey Federation, and Howard Kaufman, a farmer who grows over 100,000 turkeys annually. These two men have their fingers on the pulse of the turkey industry and are in a position to answer most of the questions, Hyre cited.

In addition to these speakers, there will be Dr. Homer Patrick, Dr. N. O. Olson, and Ted R. Hash, all of the West Virginia University staff. Some of the program will be in the form of discussion, and there will be ample time for questions from the floor.

"All those interested in the poultry industry are urged to attend these meetings," Hyre said.

Street Light Work Slated

MIDLAND — Work will begin this week on the installation of new street lights in Midland.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker said the improvements should be completed in about three or four weeks. Representatives of the Potomac Edison Company report that the project will increase the light along Midland's Main Street about 100 per cent.

Street lights that are being replaced have been in use over 50 years, according to Mayor Baker. New poles will be installed by the Potomac Edison Company and others will be relocated.

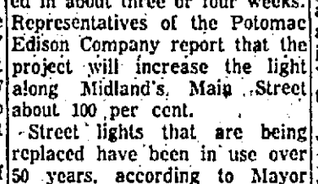

Sometime in late August, after the lighting improvement is completed, a three-day celebration will be conducted.

One of Bedford's pretty sub-teen residents, Diane Wilson, displays the headdress and the fort the Indian Scouts are helping to build. The Girl Scouts hope to enroll 1,000 youngsters in the Indian Scouts, all of whom are expected to march in the bicentennial parade and participate in the dedication ceremonies on August 27, at which Gov. Penn Bedford Hotel Bought For $176,000

BEDFORD — One of Bedford's major hotels has been purchased by the man who only last year became the owner of the May and Bigley pin mill.

In a transaction involving $176,000, the 100-room Penn-Bedford Hotel was acquired by H. N. McNutt, Clarion industrialist, from Arthur P. Trout. The transfer became effective July 1.

The Penn Bedford, until a few years ago known as the Hotel Pennsylvania, is Bedford's tallest building. The brick structure on Pitt Street contains more than 100 rooms, including 72 guest rooms, three banquet rooms and five apartments.

It also houses several businesses, including the Suburban Real Estate Company (which, incidentally served as agent for the sale of the hotel), a tailor shop, gift shop, barber shop, Western Union office, beauty shop and community credit office.

The former owner, Trout, purchased the hotel from the late Ross Brown in 1952 and modernized it extensively during his ownership. The most recent change is the installation of a basement combination cocktail lounge, bar and dining room, known as the Village Lounge.

Trout will continue as manager of the hotel until about August, at which time McNutt expects to engage a resident manager.

The new owner said that although he plans to continue the hotels policy of improving and expanding its facilities he will make no immediate changes. He said that the hotel staff will be retained.

He emphasized, however, that he will continue to operate the Penn Bedford as a "community hotel," which will serve as a social center for area residents as well as a stopping place for visitors.

McNutt now makes his home in Clarion, visiting Bedford periodically to manage his local interests.

The Penn Bedford was built in 1923. At one time in its history it was sold for $75,000. Its sale price of $176,000 this week is a striking indication of how Bedford real estate values — particularly in the hotel and motel business —have skyrocketed in the 12 years since World War II.

Senate Labor Bills Fought By Business

Unions Supporting Measures Curbing Corruption, Funds

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington is a city of strange lineups. One of them currently involves a couple of Senate-passed bills supposedly aimed at curbing corruption in unions and in labor-management relations, based on the scandals disclosed in Senate hearings.

But what do we find? Business suddenly is fighting the proposals in their present form—most of organized labor is actively supporting them.

One causing a storm in the House Labor Committee attempts to safeguard worker welfare and pension funds, now estimated to be worth over 30 billion dollars and growing fast.

A goldfish bowl treatment is proposed, requiring full, regular reporting of all fund operations to the government, with penalties for fraud.

The other Senate-passed bill, now tucked away in House Speaker Sam Rayburn's desk until the welfare fund bill is out of the way, seeks to throttle racketeering by either unions or employers in the labor field.

Here again the technique is to require detailed reporting on union affairs and funds, along with employer expenditures in labor relations. The reports would go to the U. S. Labor Department, which would have power to prosecute violations.

Other features of this bill would bar convicted crooks from holding union office, require secret-ballot union on elections for limited terms, and let union members sue to recover stolen union funds or property.

But it also contains some provisions that business groups are opposing. Leading the fight are the two main business organizations, the National Assn. of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, both opposed to the two pending labor bills.

Labor is largely represented by the AFL-CIO, which is for the bills.

Presumably, not all business groups support the one stand, nor all labor leaders the other. But that's the lineup.

Why? Take the welfare fund reporting bill first. Business favors regulating funds in which unions have a voice, but opposes disclosing financial operations of funds run solely by employers. It contends this would give labor otherwise secret data which could be useful in bargaining.

More than 90 per cent of such funds are employer-operated. But business contends that scandals have developed only in the relatively few union-run funds. Labor says all funds should be safeguarded to preclude any scandal possibility.

Insurance companies, particularly, are encouraging the business opposition. Many of the welfare plans consist of policies purchased from insurance firms. They resist having to disclose the information.

On the second measure, business objects to revealing its labor relations expenditures.

The employer groups also have balked at a provision to make management representatives submit the non-Communist oaths which have been required all along from labor leaders. Business claims there's been no evidence of Communist infiltration of business management. The unions say what's good for them is good for their business counterparts.

Business seems to prefer no bills at all to the measures in their present form.

Floodwall Invaded By Swarm Termites

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Ashland's floodwall has been invaded by termites. The insects have eaten away a cork-like filler from the joints in an eight-block-long section of the wall. Floodwall Supt L. E. McGuire says it will cost about $5,000 to replace the filler. About 290 seams will be refilled with termite-repellant sealer.

MOST HAPPY FELLA—One of the many happy farmers in America's boom-crop grain belt is C. R. Berry, who grows wheat near Thompson, Mo., and he's happier than most. That's because his wheat made more than 60 bushels to the acre on a government-measured 38-acre field. Yield for the field, weighed at the Missouri Farmers Association elevator at Mexico, Mo., was 2,284 bushels. Berry and his two sons have 130 acres in wheat this year.

U. S. Author Wins Aga Khan Award

Rare Fish Specimen Found In Chesapeake

SOLOMONS, Md. (AP) — Anybody want a Microgobius thalassinus? Maryland has found one.

It's a fish, in case you're not up on your ichthyology. And an extremely rare one at that.

Dr. F. J. Schwartz captured a female specimen of the scaled goby just 800 feet from the pier of the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory here. At the time, Dr. Schwartz was dredging oysters in 30 feet of water for a research project.

L. Eugene Cronin, director of the Maryland Department of Research and Education, was so delighted with the find he devoted almost two pages to it in the current "Tidewater News."

The fish which can be called the MT for short, is really short. It's only 1.76 inches long. It is a true mystery fish in the world of ichthyology.

Experts know little about its habitate requirements, rate of growth or development. Its sex life is virtually a secret as no eggs ever have been found under natural conditions—in oyster shells or elsewhere.

The MT, Dr. Schwartz said, was first found in 1883 in South Carolina waters. It was named, described and promptly forgotten.

In 1888, it was "discovered" again at Fort Monroe, Va., and named the Microgobius eulepis (ME). In 1907, it was "discovered" again at Beaufort, N. C., and named the Microgobis holmesi (MH).

It was not until 1934 that Isaac Ginsburg of the U. S. National Museum caught up his fellow experts. He found that the ME and MH really was the female and male, respectively, of the forgotten MT.

At the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory, they hope to unlock some of the MT's secrets. And if anyone should find another, Dr. Schwartz would like to have it very much.

The MT is slender, with an orange-tinted tan body, yellow-gold eye, yellow throat, yellow and black spotted nape, and colorless pectoral and pelvic fins.

GOTHENBURG, Sweden—(UPI)—U. S. sailors poured out of restaurants, movie houses and the big Lisbergen amusement park here last night in reply to an "urgent" summons to report back to their ships.

Police Seeking Pair For Gas Station Holdup

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—Maryland police today were looking for two men who robbed a service station attendant of about $170. The bandits were believed to be fugitives from a Pennsylvania prison.

The attendant, C. J. Manis of Baltimore, said the two men wielded knives. He said they tied him and locked him in the men's room before escaping with the money and his car yesterday.

Manis said a friend of his was napping in a parked car and didn't wake up during the entire incident. The station is a mile from this Howard County community.

State Police said the two bandits were believed to be two men who escaped Friday from a painting detail outside the Rockview prison at Bellefonte, Pa.

The two fugitives, who stole a car in State College, Pa., were identified as Robert Leeper, 30, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., and Patrick Lewis, 25, of Pittsburgh.

The two holdup men were last seen driving south on U. S. 29 toward Washington, D. C.

Giants Trying To Write 'Frisco's Tallest Tale

Roy Harris is a paradox — as difficult to figure outside the ring as his supporters say he will be inside it when he challenges Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title Aug. 18 in Los Angeles.

His home town, Cut and Shoot, Texas is a backwoods hamlet — population 194 — and looks like it has come right out of Lil Abner. Yet Roy is a college graduate and a lieutenant in the Army reserves.

His dad, Big Henry, and his uncles Bob and Jack are acknowledged as the best "fist, knee, knife, club and heel" fighters in the whole of Big Thicket, a vast, swampy area surrounding Cut and Shoot, about 40 miles from Houston.

Roy himself is named after a Machine Gun Kelly mobster of the 'Thirties,' Roy Tipton, but he has won trophies and wide acclaim for his sportsmanship and civic pride.

It's small wonder that folks around Cut and Shoot call Harris 'the quiet 'un' of the rambunctious Harris tribe. He is greatly respected in a community where the emphasis is on physical strength and ruggedness.

The records say that Roy has won 22 straight professional fights. The saying is that Roy was 'born in condition.'

And there's no doubt that Roy Harris can take a punch. The only time he has been floored as a pro was his fight with Bob Baker, hard-hitting veteran who outweighed him by 28 pounds.

A right hand floored Roy for an eight count, but he held off the hefty Baker for the rest of the round and came on to win in convincing fashion.

Harris has been described as an 'awkwardly clever' fighter. The big question is whether he can confuse the champion long enough to win the title when the two men meet in Los Angeles' Wrigley Field and on closed circuit television.

Sports Keg Residue

Some days ago University of Maryland football coach Tommy Mont was asked by a Washington newspaperman what player Terp publicist Joe Blair would be booming for All-American this year . . . "I imagine it will be Rod Breedlove," Mont said . . . "He's the guard that all our rival coaches talk about, and playing the linebacker position he will have the opportunity to make spectacular plays on defense . . . We talked of moving Breedlove to either center, tackle or end but boys like Kurt Schwarz and Victor Schwartz have proven they can handle their positions, so we're going to leave Breedlove as a guard . . . He's only a junior but a terrific football player; he can be positively sensational." . . . And Tommy added with a grin, "I'm not saying that because he comes from Cumberland." . . . July 8, date of the first All-Star game in Baltimore, has been an important date in the Monumental City's baseball history. . . . For instance, on July 8, 1902, the board of directors of the Baltimore Baseball Club formally granted the release of John J. McGraw, an act which hastened the banishment of Baltimore in the majors for 50 years . . . Then on July 8, 1914, Babe Ruth was sold by the Orioles to the Red Sox . . . Frank Lane, talking about Casey Stengel's brash move in pinch-hitting his own Yogi Berra for Baltimore's Gus Triandos in the All-Star game, declared: "John McGraw used to make himself as conspicuous as possible riding out to the field an open bus. The people along the way would yell and curse at him and he'd give it right back. His idea was to get 'em mad enough so they'd pay to get into the ballpark. Stengel has some of that in him. You saw what he did when they got on him in Baltomore. Next inning he finds some excuse to march up to home plate, checking the lineup cards or something, and that gives the crowd a real good shot at him. Next time he goes to Baltimore he'll have 35,000 out to boo him. "I wish 35,000 would come out to boo us." . . . The ball looked as big as a grapefruit to Kenny Morrisey when he was batting for City Police in the third inning of yesterday's benefit softball game with the Hermanettes at Stitcher Field . . . Looked as big as a grapefruit, did we say? Heck, it was a grapefruit . . . Dot (Effie Mae) Heavner, pitching for the gals, sneaked in the globose citrus on Morrisey and detective Ken connected . . . It was a real ripe pitch and juice sprayed over a wide area around home plate . . . Aren't you glad she didn't throw you a tomato, Ken? . . . Boy, would your face have been red!

A city built for an extravagant destiny, a tall tale come true . . .

Those words were used to describe San Francisco in its early gold rush days but they never applied more than today with an amazing Giant team trying to write the tallest tale of all—a National League pennant for San Francisco in its first season in the major leagues!

It would have sounded impossible a few months ago but who's going to say it is now after the Giants staged a winning ninth inning rally for the 14th time this year to beat the Milwaukee Braves, 6-5, yesterday? Even the 1951 Giants, who came from 13½ games behind on August 11 to win or the 1954 Giants who swept the Indians four straight in the World Series couldn't top the heroics of the current club.

Braves Lead 4-0

A crowd of 22,833 at San Francisco saw the Braves take a 4-0 first-inning lead yesterday and lead, 4-2, as late as the eighth inning. Then came the sensational late-inning heroics. A homer by rookie Orlando Cepeda and a two-run pinch single by Bob Speake put the Giants ahead, 5-4. Back came the Braves in the top of the ninth to tie the score on Red Schoendienst's run-scoring single.

And then the final act: A walk to Willie Mays, a sacrifice, an intentional walk to Cepeda and a game-winning single by rookie Felipe Alou. Chalk up another victory for Bill Rigney's "Cliffhangers." And put those Giants in first place, a half game ahead of the Braves.

Mike McCormick, 19-year-old bonus lefty, gained credit for his sixth win while Ernie Johnson suffered his first defeat for the Braves.

It was a great day all-around for underdogs in the NL as all three of the other "contenders" lost doubleheaders in a league so tight only seven games separate first and last place. The Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-8, and 8-6, The Chicago Cubs swept the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2 and 2-1, and the last place Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 3-0 and 3-2.

Yankees Divide

In the American League, the New York Yankees maintained their 12½-game lead when they beat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4, in 10 innings after a 7-4 loss. The Detroit Tigers moved into second place via 6-5 and 5-3 victories over the Baltimore Orioles, the Washington Senators swept the Kansas City A's, 2-0 and 4-2, and the Cleveland Indians crushed the Boston Red Sox, 9-4.

Bob Skinner led the Pirates' first-game attack with a homer and two singles that drove in three runs in the second game. Ron Blackburn won the opener and Vern Law gained his eighth triumph in the nightcap.

Johnny Briggs scattered seven hits for the Cubs in their first game and Dave Hillman completed the sweep with a six-hitter. Lee Walls had three hits in the opener and Walls and Al Dark had four each in the second game for the Cubs who moved into fourth place.

Rookie pitchers Stan Williams and Bob Giallombardo, both aided by Clem Labine, gained credit for the Dodgers' victories. Homers by Charlie Neal and Carl Furillo accounted for all Los Angeles' runs off Don Newcombe in the first game and Steve Bilko's eighth-inning homer won the second.

Fischer Wins Both

The Yankees gained a split on a pinch 10th-inning double by Jerry Lumpe after NL castoff Turk Lown preserved the opening win for Billy Pierce and the White Sox. Lown entered the opener with the bases filled and none out in the seventh inning and got Bill Skowron to hit into a double play and struck out Elston Howard.

Ex-White Sox reliever Bill Fischer completed both games for the Tigers, who took the opener on a three-run homer by Gail Harris and the nightcap with a nine-hit attack including two each by Harvey Kuenn, Gus Zernial and Ossie Virgil. Charlie Beamon and Billy O'Dell were the losers.

Camilo Pascual struck out 10 batters and pitched a six-hitter for the Senators in the opener and John Romonsky, 29-year old rookie called up Friday from Charleston yielded three hits and two runs in seven innings to win the nightcap. Eddie Yost knocked in three runs for Washington in the second game with two homers.

Woody Held drove in five runs with a homer and a single for the Indians who got six-hit pitching from Cal McLish. Pete Runnels collected three of the faltering Red Sox' hits.

National Open golf champion Tommy Bolt shot a record 60 in the 1954 Insurance City Open at Wethersfield, Conn.

PUT GIANTS ON TOP—Manager Bill Rigney of the San Francisco Giants had more than a kind word after yesterday's game with Milwaukee for the two pinch-hitters whose bats returned the Giants to first place in the National League. They were Bob Speake (left) who singled in the eighth to drive in two runs and rookie Felipe Alou (right) whose single in the ninth plated Willie Mays with the winning run. (AP Photofax)

Ray Robinson To Return To Ring In 1959

(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(UPI)—Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

Sugar Ray Robinson, the word is now, will fight again—but not until next year because he made too much money in 1958 and most of the loot would go to Uncle Sam.

Robinson, at a meeting with Truman Gibson, head of the International Boxing Club, said that he definitely would fight next year. He said he would like the winner of the Sept. 5 bout at Los Angeles between Carmen Basilio and Art Aragon . . . But there was a hint that one last big jackpot for defending the middleweight crown might be his last effort . . .

There is a tremendous boom in golf course construction, the National Golf Foundation reports, with 45 new courses and additions opened since last October running the total of regulation courses now in play to 5,710.

There are 372 new courses under construction and 916 in the planning stage. Meanwhile, there is a boom in the par-three courses with 236 in play and 40 under construction. Growth there is due to the smaller area required (five acres and up) plus lower construction costs, quicker playing time and the fact that they can be lighted for night play . . . For those who like to putter around, the first miniature golf championship will be held at Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 6-7. . . .

Cheaper by the dozen or the dollar ain't worth nowhere near what it used to be: There was a great furor back in 1938 when Seabiscuit became the first horse to win more than $400,000. That was only 20 years ago but at the moment there are 33 horses which have won more money and three of them—Nashua, Round Table and Citation—are millionaires. . . .

Voting is being conducted by the boxing press in the annual election for candidates to boxing's Hall of Fame. Just in case you're interested, the choices of old Fearless are; Johnny Dundee, Tony Zale, Lew Tendler, Billy Petrolle, Marcel Cerdan, Georges Carpentier, Jimmy Braddock, Jersey Joe Walcott, Lew Ambers and Fidel Labarba. . . .

Marilynn Smith, one of the top players in the Ladies Professional Golf Association, thinks that the feminine par-busters have a long way to go.

"We're just at about the point where the men pros were in 1932 or 1933," she asserts. "People just haven't gotten used to the idea of girl pros yet." . . . They would, if they's see 'em hit that ball. . . .

Ralph Kercheval, the former Kentucky All-American and pro grid star who was one of the finest punters these tired old eyes ever saw, has resigned as manager of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Sagamore Farm near Pimlico where he raised Native Dancer. Kercheval is going into the horse breeding business at the late Col. E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour farm.

There hasn't been much fuss this year about how the home run hitters stand against Babe Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927. So, just to start the ball rolling, when Boston's Jackie Jensen hit his 26th homer in the Red Sox' 78th game he was just one game behind the mighty Bambino's schedule.

Meaning that the record is safe for another year because baseball men say that nobody will ever match Ruth's 17 in September.

Ninth-Inning Giant Rallies Making Old Man Of Rigney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Every day it's something different. These young fellows make mistakes but they're learning fast. These ninth-inning finishes are making an old man of me."

San Francisco Giants Manager Bill Rigney—who is 40—had just watched his rookie-loaded crew pull into first place in the National League by edging the world champion Milwaukee Braves 6-5 in the ninth inning Sunday.

Somebody asked Rigney if he thought the team would stay there.

"You just can't tell," he declared. "But I know for sure they are there today."

Sunday the Giants took their second straight game from the Braves, who had held No. 1 position since June 11.

Rookie outfielder Felipe Alou singled in the winning run in the last of the ninth to give the pitching victory to 19-year-old Mike McCormick. Earlier, 20-year-old Orlando Cepeda blasted his third home run in as many days and rookie catcher Bob Schmidt knocked in a run with a sharp two-base hit.

All six of the Giants' victories in their current home stand have come in the last of the ninth and one on a Cepedea homer in the 12th.

Burke Sets Mark In Insurance Win

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Jack Burke Jr. today heads for the National Professional Golfers Assn. Tournament after scoring his first major victory since he won the PGA in 1956.

The 35-year-old Texan would seem to be bidding strong for his second triumph in the PGA, which switches from match play to medal play this year at Havertown, Pa.

He has apparently recovered from a wrist operation and he set a tournament record of 268 in winning the $3,500 first prize in the Insurance City Open Sunday.

Burke, who plays out of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., fired rounds of 63-67-69-69 to eclipse the previous ICO mark of 269 shared by Bob Toski and Sam Snead.

He entered the final round three strokes in the lead and kept that margin over runnersup Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla.

Wall and Finsterwald tied at 271 and each received $2,050. Wall equaled Burke's closing round of 69. Finsterwald had 68.

WATERFOWL LAND

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Cleared for the House by unanimous Senate action is a bill which would increase the duck stamp fee to three dollars and devote virtually all the revenue for migratory waterfowl.

Yankees Might Lose Pennant, Opines Lopez

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox is his usual chipper self these days, and he's even saying the New York Yankees might lose the American League pennant.

But something is missing.

In past pronouncements, Lopez always has cited chapter and verse as to why the Yanks could fall. Now he has reverted to the practically hopeless "anything can happen in baseball" theme.

At the moment, the White Sox are 14½ games behind the Bronx Bombers and they didn't improve their position one bit in Sunday's split. The White Sox won the opener, 7-4, but dropped the nightcap, 5-4, in 10 innings.

"I'm sure Casey Stengel isn't taking anything for granted," said Lopez today while working out his lineup for tonight's third game of the three-game set. "Didn't the Dodgers once blow a 13½ game lead? Yes, anything can happen in baseball."

Titles Decided In Bay Regatta

GIBSON ISLAND, Md. (AP)—Star and Comet racing championships of Chesapeake Bay were decided during the weekend despite the handicaps of light, shifty winds and a strong ebb tide.

Racing conditions were so poor for the regatta finale Sunday that the final Star race was shortened from nine to three miles. But the conditions failed to shake the first-day leaders from their advantages.

Blair Fletcher of the West Jersey Star Fleet scored 71 points with his Maverick for the title, although he could do no better than sixth Sunday.

John Swaine Jr. of the Tred Avon Yacht Club, sailing We Too, finished third in Sunday's Comet event to score 54 points for all three races and annex his second straight title.

Swaine won in the Gibson Island Challenge Series while Fletcher took the Star title in the J. Rulon Miller Mr. Memorial Series.

Ol' Plug's Frustration, skippered by Jim Johnson, Gibson Island Yacht Squadron, was the winner among Penguins which competed only on Sunday.

Carl (Buck) Nystrom, new Michigan State assistant football coach, was a guard in the Spartans' 1955 team.

Orioles Fall Into Seventh On Twin Loss

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles look to starter Hal Brown today to hold the line against the rampaging Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers edged the Orioles in both games of yesterday's doubleheader 6-5 and 5-3. In both cases, Baltimore lacked the necessary punch to knock in runs in the final innings.

Brown (2-0) probably will start against Herb Moford (0-1) of Detroit in today's afternoon game at Memorial Stadium.

Yesterday's double win dropped Baltimore into seventh place in the American League 15½ games behind the league-leading New York Yankees, but only three games out of second. Detroit into the second spot.

O'Dell Gets Loss

The Orioles loaded the bases in the ninth inning of the nightcap on a single and two walks. Then reliever Bill Fischer came in to get Dick Williams on a force play for the final out.

Billy O'Dell, ace of the All Star game, left in the seventh for a pinch hitter with the Orioles trailing 4-3. He picked up his tenth loss against eight wins. Detroit starter George Susce was credited with his second victory. He has yet to lose.

Frank Bolling doubled for Detroit in the seventh and scored on two flies for what turned out to be the winning run. The Orioles picked up a run in the bottom of the seventh on a single by Brooks Robinson and a double by Billy Gardner. The Tigers scored again in the ninth and that was the end.

Kaline Out Indefinitely

In the first game, Baltimore starter Charley Beamon struck Al Kaline with a pitched ball on the right wrist in the first inning. X-rays showed no broken bones, but later a Tiger spokesman said Kaline would be out of the lineup indefinitely, depending on how the bruise responded to treatment.

In the same inning, Beamon hit Frank Bolling after walking two others, forcing in a run without a hit. After this opening wildness, Beamon settled down to hurl no-hit ball for five innings. Then the roof fell in.

Billy Martin beat out a bunt. Bob Hazle singled. Gail Harris then homered. Billy Loes relieved Beamon after Tito Francona singled. But two more singles brought in Francona.

Beamon, now 0-2, was the loser, while Paul Foytak (7-8) was the winner.

Needed Punch Fails

Baltimore scored two in the eighth and had Jim Busby, representing the tying-run, on third with two out in the ninth. But here again the needed punch failed. Bob Nieman, active after 5½ weeks of nursing an injured right hand, flied out to end the contest.

Busby had gone in to run for catcher Gus Triandos. With Gus, Joe Ginsberg and Dick Williams already replaced, the question arose—who would do the catching if the Orioles had tied the game? Manager Paul Richards later gave the answer: Busby.

Busby had never caught before, but neither had any other eligible Oriole, and someone had to receive. Busby had said he would try.

Bitsy Harrison Wins Net Title

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Top-seeded Bitsy Harrison, troubled at the start by the tactics of wily Hugh Lynch, pulled his game together and went on to take a 4-6, 6-2, 8-6, 7-5 victory in the finals of the junior bracket of the Middle Atlantic Junior Tennis Tournament here Sunday.

Second-seeded Mac Pardew of Baltimore was also pushed in winning the boys' division crown 6-2, 7-5. After an easy victory in the first set Pardew had to win five games in a row in the second set to overcome a 5-2 lead built up by fourth seeded Larry Freedman of Washington.

In the boy's doubles the top-seeded team of Jim Busick and Joel Polin of Cambridge, Md., also had to absorb a first-set loss but rallied to win, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6. They defeated Larry Freedman and John Pratt of Washington who were unseeded.

HONEST COUNT—Lee Roberts has good reason to smile standing beside this 382-pound blue marlin caught off Hamilton, Bermuda. It is one of the biggest fish ever taken on a 50-pound test line in the area.

Baker Lost Rest Of Year

ST.LOUIS (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates third baseman Gene Baker is lost to the club, probably for the rest of the season, because of a serious leg injury.

Baker fell on his left knee in charging a ground ball Sunday and ruptured a ligament that attaches the knee cap to the leg.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, St. Louis Cardinal club physician, said the knee would require surgery and would have to remain in a cast for two months or more.

The 33-year-old infielder was carried off the field in the eighth inning of the first game of a doubleheader.

Pirate trainer Charles Jorgensen said it was "very doubtful" Baker would play any more this season.

Amateurs To Have Qualifying Sections

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Thirty-three qualifying sections will be held in connection with the 1958 U. S. Amateur golf championship. The tournament proper is set for Sept. 8-13 at the Olympic Country Club's Lake Course here.

Entries close Aug. 7 with the United States Golf Assn. in New York. Amateurs with a handicap of four strokes or less are eligible for the qualifying rounds which begin Aug. 25.

The 1957 crown went to Hillman Robbins Jr., of Memphis who beat Dr. Frank M. Taylor of Pomona, Calif., 5 and 4, at Brookline, Mass.

Title Grabbed By Sikes In Publinx Golf

CHICAGO (AP) — After barely qualifying for the National Public Links golf championship, Dan Sikes just shifted gears and went on to win.

Last week was a big one for the wiry, hawk-faced University of Florida law student, who has been playing golf only 10 years.

He capped it Saturday by defeating Bob Ludlow of Indianapolis 3 and 2 in 34 holes for the publinx crown.

A whistling, practice swinging, heady player, Sikes was 5-up after 19 holes, but was cut to 2-up by his 220-pound opponent by the 30th.

When Ludlow missed a three-foot birdie putt and halved the 31st, it was all over.

"I wasn't too happy with my game in that 36-hole qualifying test," said Sikes.

He was talking about the 155—nine over par—he shot to place him among nine others who had to play off for six remaining qualifying spots to make the main show.

Once he was in it, Sikes was a relentless match play artist. The tip-off came when he routed Don Essig of Indianapolis, medalist and defending champion, 5 and 4 in the third round.

In 131 holes of match play, Sikes was even par.

Fullbacks Named To All-Star Team

WHEELING (AP) — A couple of 200 - pound fullbacks were named today to the West Virginia squad for the 16th annual Ohio-West Virginia All - Star Football Game here Aug. 9.

Jim Hawkins, 6-1, of Linsly Military Institute and Jim Kasimakis, 5-8 plunger for Weirton's 1957 state Class AA champions, were the Mountaineer selections for the classic to be played in Wheeling Stadium.

Meanwhile, sponsors of the game said there was a distinct possibility that Lou "The Toe" Groza, fabulous place - kicker for the Cleveland Browns would be on hand to give an exhibition of his prowess.

Director Bob Roe said Cleveland Coach Paul Brown has given his approval to Groza's appearance here if a transportation problem can be solved. Groza, who has said he would try to be here, is scheduled to be at the Brown's training camp at Bowling Gr... for a picture - taking session the afternoon of the all-star game.

If arrangements can be made to bring Groza here that night for the game, the big fellow will give his exhibition.

Hyndman, Exports Knotted For Lead

Behind the clutch pitching of Bobby Dawson, the Grantsville Sluggers cracked the six-game win skein of the Barrelville Old Exports, 5-4, yesterday at Barrelville and enabled Hyndman's Merchants, who were victorious over

Mt. Savage's Old Germans, to move into a first place tie in the Pen-Mar Baseball League.

Dawson was nicked for 10 well-spaced hits but was tight in the pinches as he notched his fifth win of the season against a single loss. The victory was the fourth in a row for the Garrett Countians and moved them to within a half-game of the deadlocked leaders.

Barrelville, which had been tallying runs almost at will this season — 90 during its six-game streak was handcuffed by the stocky righthander. The Exports could muster only single runs in each the third and fourth innings. Dawson, one of the league's leaders in strikeouts, fanned five in notching yesterday's triumph.

Clingan Whiffs Side

Bobby Raines started and worked eight innings for the Old Exports, was touched for six hits and fanned 11 while absorbing the loss. Ex-minor league hurler Jim Clingan struck out all three batters in the ninth inning after coming on in relief of Raines in the last frame. Raines' record is 4-3.

John Kelster rapped out two of the Sluggers' six hits while Tucker Cain spanked a two-bagger. Harold (Rock) Hudson clouted a double and two singles and Ronnie Cage collected a pair of singles for the Exports.

Hyndman's 12-4 decision over Mt. Savage was highlighted by a bizarre 8-run fourth inning.

Bop Five Hurlers

During the wild fourth, the Merchants bunched together three free passes, an error, sacrifice fly, five singles, and a double for their eight runs. Ralph Dickel, Bob Dickel, Dale Folk, "Moose" Arnone and Kline all paraded to the hill for Mt. Savage and were bopped before the Pennsylvanians were finally settled. Before the sudden outburst, the score was knotted at 3-3.

Clay Leydig led the winners' assault with four hits in five trips, manager Bryant pounded a double and single, Cliff Clites larupped a pair of doubles and Bob (Ab) See banged a double and singles for the Merchants.

Jim Leydig, who was relieved by Glenn Deremer in the eighth, notched his fourth win against no defeats. The loss set Ralph Dickel's mark at 5-4.

Arch Lennox and Arnone, with three hits each, and Dorcy Kline and Faye Often with a pair, led the Mt. Savage hitters.

End Another Famine

The Flintstone Farmers ended a 14-game victory famine when they scored 6 runs in the home ninth to edge Wellersburg, 6-5, for their second win of the season. The other victory also came at the expense of Wellersburg, on May 17, which ended a two-year, 30-game loss spin for the Farmers.

A two-base wallop by Eddie Weaver scored the winning and tying runs in the last-inning explosion. The outburst was marked by walks to Joe Deremer and Leo Williams, singles by Dwight Morris and Jim Fletcher, doubles by Walter Hillegas and Weaver and a costly error on a routine double-play ball.

Bill Hook southpawed his way to his first victory in his second start for the Farmers. He worked the distance, giving up nine hits, struck out one and issued three free passes. Ron Neubiser, who took over for starter Russ Jones in the ninth, was tagged with the loss. Jones fanned six and walked four.

Weaver, who starred in centerfield with eight putouts, spanked a pair of doubles while Hook obtained two one-base safeties. John Witt had three of Wellersburg's nine safeties.

Zihlman Wins, 9-6

Jack Anderson walked and doubled, Denny Shuck, George Allen, Dave Richards and Kenny Johnson singled, Robeson walked, Barney Spearman was hit by a pitched ball and Joe (Ace) Conroy sacrificed in a big seven-run sixth inning to send Zihlman's Zippers to a 9-6 victory over Salisbury's Cardinals at Zihlman. Johnson batted in three runs and Allen two in the melee.

Dave Richards relieved Bill Haberlein in the sixth and received credit for the win, striking out five and yielding two hits in 3⅓ frames. Haberlein fanned eight and Nicholson was the loser.

Jack Anderson doubled and singled twice, Shuck doubled and bingled and Robeson hit safely twice to pace the Zihlman attack. Gordon Oester accounted for two of Salisbury's nine safeties.

Wellersburg Win Ruled Out

Wellersburg today was ordered to forfeit its Pen-Mar Baseball League victory of July 6 over Salisbury, according to president Earl Nonnenmann.

Nonnenmann said the Pennsylvania team protested because Russ Jones, the winning pitcher, also hurls for Cumberland in the Twilight League. Any pitcher who twirls in the Twilight, is ineligible as a Pen-Mar pitcher, Nonnenmann pointed out, although it is permissible for them to play some other position.

Four Twilight Games Billed

A full card is on tap for this evening in the Twilight Baseball League as Midland, tied for the league lead with Barton on a 13-3 record, plays host to Cumberland's Greylings (8-8).

Barton, meanwhile, will journey to Finzel to battle the last-place club. The Finzelmen sport a 1-15 mark.

Westernport, a half game off the pace at 12-3, will play at home to Wright's Crossing (3-13) and Lonaconing, knotted with Cumberland for fourth place with an identical tab, will entertain Zihlman's sixth-place club which has won six, while dropping ten.

All of this evening's contests will begin at 5:30 p. m. with the exception of the one at Finzel which will get under way half an hour later.

Unbeaten 49ers Seek 5th In Row

The undefeated 49ers will be shooting for their fifth straight High School League baseball victory this evening when meeting the Veterans of Foreign War tossers at Stitcher Field beginning at 6 p. m.

The VFW club is tied for second with Gurley's, each owning tabs of 2-2.

The Gurley aggregation will tangle with Toy Shop in another 6 p. m. contest in the latter's attempt to shake a four-game loss spin and notch its first victory. The Toymen are winless in four starts and will be the home team this evening at Fort Hill Field.

Olympic-Like Fever Covers British Games

By JOHN GALE

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—Wales is in the grip of an Olympic-type fever. The world wide community known as the British Commonwealth holds its own every-four-years sports show here starting Friday.

There is a sense of suspense in the mining valleys and unparalleled activity in this bustling seaport and Welsh capital. This will be the sixth British Empire Games. It will be opened here by Prince Philip.

All Rooms Taken

Every hotel room in town—and for miles around—was booked months ago. Thousands of private householders have gone into the bed and board business. The bars never have been busier and the cash registers are tinkling a beautiful symphony for the owners.

Track and field squads from 36 lands are taking part and 23 already have arrived. All are members of the still considerable British Commonwealth and Empire. They are quartered 16 miles out of Cardiff at the Empire Village—a self contained sector of a Royal Air Force base.

Two Years Of Planning

It has taken two years of planning to get the city and its surrounding facilities ready for the incoming athletes and an expected 250,000 visitors. Cardiff has specially built a swimming pool at a cost of $1,820,000.

The first Empire Games were held in 1930 at Hamilton, Ontario. Since then, the sites have been: London 1934, Sydney, Australia 1938, Auckland, New Zealand 1950, and Vancouver, British Columbia 1954.

In the latest version, an all-out attack is expected on a lot of world records. Australia appears to have the strongest team and the best chance of setting new world marks in track and swimming events.

Record Milers Enter

They have brought their sub-four minute milers Merv Lincoln and Herb Elliott. Bert Thomas, 23-year-old accountancy clerk from Sydney who broke the world 3-miles record in Dublin this week, is also running. So is Hec Hogan, joint world record holder for 100 yards.

Their immensely strong swimming team includes the Latvian-born record smashers, Jon and Ilsa Konrads, and Dawn Fraser and many other stars.

England has Derek Ibbotson, the world's fastest miler. Ironically, Ibbotson was not selected for the mile after disappointing clockings this season. He runs only in the three miles. Brian Hewson, also a sub-four minute miler, is England's chief hope in the mile. England also has a bunch of young swimmers who may challenge Australian dominance in some events.

Like the Olympics, no official points score will be kept and there will be no champion nation at the end.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Anne Bancroft, led the Walter Reed Girls of Washington to the team title in the Eastern Invitational Age Group Swimming Meet here over the weekend. The little blonde won six events, setting meet records in four of them.

The team scored 251 points, far ahead of second-place Congressional Country Club of Bethesda, Md., which amassed 130. Greensboro was third with 116. The boys team from the Congressional Country Club was the top in its division, scoring 154½ points. Second was the Naval Receiving Station of Washington with 86. Charlotte finished third with 83.

A field of 409 swimmers from along the Atlantic seaboard competed in the 56 events in various age groups.

Gallant Man Championship Chances Brightened By Win

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gallant Man's chances of being named handicap champion and the horse of the year were somewhat brightened Saturday but those of Round Table had dimmed as the result of defeat in a race in which victory would have put him close to Nashua on the all-time money winning list.

Gallant Man, a 4-year old campaigner owned by Ralph Lowe of Midland, Tex., picked up votes when he beat Eddie Schmidt by a half-length in the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap at Hollywood Park Saturday. The victory was worth $100,000 to Lowe and $2.80 for each $2 invested by the colt's backers on a win parimutuel ticket.

This was the Man's first race since he beat Bold Ruler, 1957 horse of the year, in the Metropolitan Mile at Belmont Park June 14. In his only other start he was defeated by Bold Ruler in a shorter race.

Willie Shoemaker was up on Gallant Man for his third straight Hollywood Cup victory. He won on Round Table last year and Swaps in 1956.

Round Table, dropping his second decision in a lucrative campaign, failed in the $85,000 Warren Wright Memorial Handicap at Arlington Park. He finished second to Bernburgoo ($40.80) in a photo finish after leading the mile and one - eighth race by two lengths at the top of the stretch.

So instead of winning the $53,900 which went to W. H. Bishop, owner of Bernburgoo, Round Table picked up only $15,000. The Oklahoma-owned 4-year old from Travis Kerr's barns boosted his bankroll to $1,105,104. Nashua tops the list with $1,288,565.

Frostburg After Pony Loop Lead

Frostburg will be angling for first place in the Bi-State Pony League pennant chase today at Frostburg as it goes up against the current pacers, Cresaptown, in the feature attraction of the loop's three scheduled games for the day. All games are set for 6 p. m.

Cresaptown (11-3) now holds a half game edge over the Mountain City nine which has won 10 and dropped three.

The other pair of contests has Ellerslie (2-11) facing Lonaconing (5-8) on the latter's field and LaVale (7-5) testing Mt. Savage (4-9) on the Mt. Savage diamond.

South End's Aces remained in second place with a 15-2 victory over West Side's Hawks in a game at Rolling Mill Field.

Joe Biggs homered twice and singled, John Teter homered and tripled, Ray Perry doubled twice and bingled and "Butch" Heller doubled and singled to back Jim Brown's two-hit pitching. Buddy Meade hit for the circuit for West Side.

Ridgedale's Royals made it two in a row by nipping the Wiley Ford Blues, 7-5, at East Side, after facing a four-run first-inning deficit.

'Back Yard' Tiffs Feature Monday Card

By The Associated Press

Yvon Durelle, the fighting fisherman from New Brunswick, Canada, defends his British Empire light heavyweight title Wednesday at Montreal against Mike Holt of South Africa in one of the top bouts of the week.

Although Durelle was stopped by Tony Anthony in seven rounds March 14, a defeat that may have cost him a world championship match, the Canadian is a rugged customer. He stopped Clarence Hinnant in January and outpointed Germinal Ballarin in May, his last outing.

Holt arrived in Montreal from South Africa July 4 and has been training daily. His most important victory was a decision over Yolande Pompey at London June 3. He has a 21-6 record as compared to Durelle's 73-19-2.

Scanlon In Garden

Bobby Scanlon, a Buffalo-born lightweight who now fights out of San Francisco, boxes his first featured bout at Madison Square Garden Friday against Gale Kerwin, an Ottawa boy now living in Valley Stream, N.Y.

Scanlon impressed as a prelim fighter when he was around New York a few years back. He has won 28 of 29 with one draw. In 1958 the handsome Irishman has stopped Luke Easter and outpointed Bobby Rogers.

Kerwin has become quite a favorite in recent months. After outpointing Stefan Redl in New York Feb. 14, he split two bouts with Davey Dupas. He lost in March and reversed it in Ottawa, two weeks later.

Alex Miteff, the Argentine ranked among the leading heavyweights, takes on Ruben Vargas in a match tonight at Oakland, Calif. Miteff is rated No. 7 by both Ring Magazine and the National Boxing Assn. but Vargas, a knockout artist, can be rough.

Pep Still Busy

Willie Pep, who hopes to lure Hogan "Kid" Bassey, the current featherweight champ, into a Boston battle later in the summer, continues to keep busy. The ex-champ takes on Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, in the opening show of a weekly Monday program at the Norwood, Mass., arena.

St. Nicholas Arena presents another neighborhood battle when Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn and Al Tisi of New York's East Side tangle tonight. Tisi has won his last four. Costa dropped a decision to Sonny Leon in Caracas June 16.

Jimmy Grow, a Lewiston, Idaho, lightweight, hopes to climb toward national recognition Saturday in a Hollywood (Calif.) Legion match with Jimmy Carter, the former champion from New York. Grow, who knocked out Jim Lasiter in his latest bout, has a 53-7 record.

Darkhorses Win Golf Tournament

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Dean Beman and Bill Buppert of the Bethesda, Md., Country Club, who barely qualified for match play, won the John G. Anderson Memorial Golf Tournament yesterday with a 2 and 1 victory over Tommy Goodwin and Bob Sweeny of the Westchester Country Club.

Beman is only 20 and Buppert 26 but they played with all the coolness of a couple of seasoned old-timers. And, in fact, they licked a couple of seasoned old-timers in Goodwin and Sweeny. Both are veterans of international play.

The match was evened three times. Beman and Buppert went ahead on the 34th for the last time. On the 35th Beman, the only one of the foursome to reach the green, dropped a 30-foot putt to end the match.

Hermanette Gals Raid Cops, 14-10 In Benefit Game

The Old German Hermanettes exploded for a 10-run sixth inning yesterday to defeat the City Police, 14-10, in a benefit softball game at Stitcher Field.

Dot Heavner hurled the distance for the Hermanettes while Harry Iser did the firing for the gendarmes. Each pitcher was nicked for 10 hits.

Jeannie Hale and Beverly Warnick doubled and singled each, Annabelle Leatherman and Rosie Bowers collected two hits apiece and Heavner smacked a two-bagger to pace the Hermanettes at the plate.

"Handsome" Iser sparked the police raid with three doubles. Charles (Chick) Cubbage and John (Fence-Buster) Daum each rapped out a double and single and Roy (Snip) Hawse spanked a homer and single.

Proceeds of the game will be used to defray expenses incurred by the girls' trip to Baltimore next month to participate in the state tournament.

Local Netmen Whip Keyser

Cumberland chalked up its first win of the season against one loss yesterday on the Garlitz Recreation Courts, Williams Road, when it trounced Keyser, 7-2 in a Tri-State Tennis League match.

The match, originally scheduled in Keyser, was transferred here at the last minute because of wet grounds in the West Virginia town.

Yesterday's match was cinched in singles play when the locals copped five of six matches. They won two of the three doubles. It was Keyser's first outing in league play. Cumberland previously had lost to defending champion Uniontown which will be met in a return match there in two weeks.

The summary:

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles A. Jewell, who left us 3 years ago today, July 12, 1955.

The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of one who once sat there
Beyond the sunset he has gone,
Still memories linger on.
Gone but not forgotten.
Wife and Family.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition), notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, did, in regular session Monday, July 7, 1958, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of Tonkaway Avenue from its intersection with Greene Street to Brown Avenue; a portion of VanBuren Avenue from its intersection with Tonkaway Avenue to Euclid Avenue; a portion of Greene Street from its intersection with Tonkaway Avenue to Euclid Avenue; the closing of two (2) unnamed alleys, fifteen feet (15') in width, one of which runs from Tonkaway Avenue to Euclid Avenue and parallel with Greene Street and VanBuren Avenue and the other running from Tonkaway Avenue to Euclid Avenue and parallel with VanBuren Avenue and Brown Avenue, all within the Cumberland Development Company's Ridgedale Addition to Cumberland.

After meeting on the premises and hearing those persons who would be affected by the closing of said streets and alleys and portions of streets, the Commissioners present the following:

The Commissioners retired for deliberation and came to the conclusion that in view of the aforementioned agreement (agreement between City of Cumberland and property owners for frontage charge and sewer tappage fee when sewer is tapped and grading and light surfacing of VanBuren Avenue from Cartmel Avenue to Euclid Avenue) the property owners involved will sustain no damages and no benefits should be assessed.

It is further understood that the burden of advertising the closing of said streets and alleys has been assumed by the City as part of its obligation to assemble property for the Armory site, and that, accordingly, the expense of the closing of the same, as well as the fees of the Commissioners, should be borne by the Mayor and City Council.

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after July 7, 1958, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Dear Abby - - -

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been following your column and would like to say that the pros and cons of the RED CROSS have interested me tremendously. Some say the RED CROSS has never been known to give anything away and others say it is a great service organization. I would like to state that I, for one, have tried to collect money for the RED CROSS and when I ask a veteran for anything he says, "I'd give for the SALVATION ARMY, or KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS, but not to the RED CROSS!" Maybe this is unfair, but half a million servicemen can't be wrong. If the RED CROSS is so great, why have they such a poor reputation among the men in uniform?

LIKE TO KNOW

DEAR L. T. K.: I would also like to know. Of the thousands (yes, thousands!) of letters I have received concerning this RED CROSS controversy, I must admit that nine out of ten were NOT on the side of the Red Cross. If ninety per cent of my readers haven't a good word to say for the largest service organization in the world, then I would say the RED CROSS is sadly in need of a herculean public relations program. Amen!

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. My neighbor lady runs around outside in her bathing suit all summer. My husband noticed this and now he puts on his bathing suit and lays outside all day. What's good for a burn?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Yours or his?

DEAR ABBY: I go with a girl I like a lot, but every time I go to her house to take her out her father dollars me to death. He always has a "hot tip" on a horse and asks me to pitch in a dollar and he bets a dollar. I have yet to see one of his horses come in. Should I tell him I don't care to bet with him or should I keep my mouth shut and keep on handing out dollars?

NO BETTOR

DEAR NO: Quit handing out the dollars, and mention to your girl that you are no bettor. If she doesn't speak to her Dad about this, she is "no better" (than her father, that is).

DEAR ABBY: I have become interested in a girl I thought was 22. She is 17. She thought I was 30, but I am 39. I don't know how we fell in love so fast but we did. It was just like somebody hit me over the head with a sack of cement. She wants to get married right away but some of my friends say she is too young for me. She is out of school and works at a place that thinks she is 21. I never felt this way about anybody before. Please give me some advice.

HIT BY LOVE

DEAR HIT: When love hits a guy like a "sack of cement" he had better take his time if he wants a concrete marriage. This girl is too young for you and too young for marriage. Don't let her rush you into anything you might regret.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She never keeps her promises. She promised me an umbrella for my birthday and I never got it. Then she promised me I could sleep over at a girlfriend's house and she keeps putting it off. I am eleven years old but I think it is just as wrong for a mother to break a promise as it is for a daughter. Please put this in the paper with your own opinion.

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: "A promise made — is a debt unpaid." Your mother should realize that she is teaching you by her example.

CONFIDENTIAL to "Mary Doe:" There's your answer . . . Marry dough!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

U. S. Census Programs Set

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Census Bureau announced today it will begin a series of six censuses next January to gather new statistics on virtually all aspects of American life. It will gather data next year on U. S. business, manufacturing, mineral industries and agriculture.

Aside from 30,000 part-time field workers who will make the farm survey, all the censuses will be conducted by mail by the bureau's regular staff.

A spokesman for the bureau also estimated that 130,000 persons will be employed on a part-time basis to help in the 10-year population survey in 1960.

BALD PATE SPECIAL—Comedian Ernie Kovacs is not one to split hairs, especially his own. But he's undoubtedly solemn as he examines the wide open space on his ordinarily well-forested dome. Ernie had his head shaved in New York for his role as a railroad tycoon in the new film, "Miss Casey Jones." Barber Angelo Resciniti doesn't seem worried at Ernie's threat to sue for $2,000,000 if the hair doesn't grow back.

Three of the classes, taught in Cumberland, included 33 students. One taught at Piedmont had an enrollment of eight, while the other, taught at Kingwood, W. Va., had an enrollment of six. All completed the standard course and have been presented certificates, Mrs. Legge said.

Library Has Number Of New Books

Books of interest to parents, golfers, clubwomen, flower lovers and junior readers have been added to the shelves of the Cumberland Free Public Library, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

Of particular interest to all parents and many children is "The Parent from Zero to Ten." by Anne Cleveland (Mrs. A. R. White). The author in 69 sparkling pages of text and pictures describes the hazards of being a parent.

"A History of Golf," by Robert Browning provided a comprehensive and detailed history of the game and the text has been called a vertibale "Bible" of the sport.

Two of America's best known club women, Edith Wasson McElroy and Dorothy Deemer Houghton, have written "The Complete Book of Clubwomen", designed to help not only introductory club work but also experienced members confronted with unfamiliar tasks.

J. Gregory Conway has written an informative and accurate volume on the principles and practices of flower arrangements in both the Japanese and the Western traditions.

"Rivers of the Eastern Shore," by Hulbert Footen is a most interesting description of 17 Maryland rivers and the people who live along their banks.

In "Power and Diplomacy" Dean Acheson outlines the map of the second half of our century as it is projected by the course of events, and surveys the dangerous passage across it.

Frank Moraes, former editor of The Times of India, has written an eminently readable, informative and timely text on Asian and World affairs. Outstanding among the library's newly-added fiction publications is "Four, Five and Six" by Josephine Tey. This text includes complete and unabridged editions of "The Daughters of Time"; "The Singing Sands" and "A Shilling for Candles". The unusual, captivating and humorous style of this author is enchanting.

Junior readers will be pleased with "Wings of Tomorrow". Written by the author of "Pony Express Boy" this relates the adventures of a Cadet at the Air Force Academy.

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—A friendly Mars aspect, plus good rays from Venus and Uranus, give you many advantages now. Aim for the top.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Delicate matters, home and charity affairs; artistry, science under stimulating influences. You can make fresh strides, gains in your specific work; also in new undertakings.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Some benefic Mercury rays still linger from recent auspicious configurations. You will increase your chances for gains and favors by using your finest artistry, showmanship and glamour. Try!

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Friendly and encouraging aspects for the most part—especially for personal, family and home interests. Be thoughtful; aid good causes where you can, but don't overtax yourself.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Not much help from the sun now, but you can make appreciable headway under benefic Venus and Uranus aspects. Emphasize system, initiative, cooperation.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Mild rays. However, with clever management, a smart allocation of tasks; and the maintenance of an even tempo, you can readily do well.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Venus' excellent position should stimulate your artistry and your instinctive knowledge for handling delicate situations. Accent your natural fairness and balance and you should have a satisfactory day.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—Favorable rays should stimulate your practicality, artistry, your scientific leanings—all your good qualities, in fact. One admonition, however: do control your emotions.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Sensible care advised in handling money, investing and in advising others about finances or contracts. Otherwise, you should win appreciable returns for sincere, intelligent efforts and management.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Your astute judgment and instinctive know-how should help you win lucrative rewards now. Be conscientious.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—A favorable Uranus aspect. You can benefit if you are up to requirements. Don't dally over unessentials or waste time with frivolous, pointless activities. Be cheerful but purposeful.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Grand rays favor unique and delicate matters. Be alert to new opportunities.

YOU BORN TODAY are usually of a sensitive, retiring nature, tenacious, honorable, purposeful and roundly talented. You can do many things in a colorful, entertaining way. Never force issues, however, and avoid abruptness in dealing with others. Time-wasting and brooding can wreck your many fine intentions and chances of achievement, so be alert to these tendencies. Birthdate: Rembrandt, famed Dutch painter.

Augusta Kantor, one of our top women bridge players, writes from New York:

"Here is a hand that may interest you as a good example of the use of a squeeze to eliminate a guess. The slam contract certainly was a good one although my partner and I were one of the few pairs to get there.

"West opened the king of clubs. I took my ace and led the king of spades. East won his ace immediately and led back a second club. I ruffed and played two rounds of trumps, discarding the jack of hearts from dummy. I went to dummy with the ace of diamonds and ruffed out another club just in case the queen might drop. It didn't, so I went over to dummy's queen of diamonds and back to my own king. West showed out on the diamond return so I simply led my last trump and I threw away dummy's last club. This left dummy's last diamond to squeeze East down to two hearts also whereupon all three of my hearts were good irrespective of who held the queen."

Nice play indeed! Mrs. Kantor's bidding was enterprising and her play exemplary.

West Virginia Educators To Elect Today

Annual Conference Held To Air State Improvement Plan

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. (AP) The West Virginia Association of School Superintendents will elect new officers here tonight to climax the first day of a three-day conference involving a statewide program of school improvement.

The State Department of Education undertook the program in cooperation with the county school administrations. Today's opening session included a briefing on that vast program by the state agency and a panel discussion.

The affair actually is the annual conference of the department with county school superintendents, their staffs and county board of education members. Regional groups held workshop meetings during today's program.

Dr. B. H. Jarman, summer session director at George Washington University, will be principal speaker tomorrow night at the annual banquet.

Asst. State School Supt. John T. St. Clair served as chairman of today's panel discussion on the statewide program. Others on the panel were State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough, Dean Eston K. Feaster of the West Virginia University College of Education, Randolph County School Supt. Stark Wilmoth and Asst. State School Supt. Craig Wilson.

West Virginia Has Eight Fatalities

CHARLESTON (AP)—The State Police Accident Prevention Bureau reported today that traffic fatalities for the month have risen to eight, to bring the total for the year to 160.

Both figures are below those of 1957. Then, 12 persons had been killed thus far in July, to make a total for the year of 237.

ly attached to the patient, will switch on automatically to begin its rythmic pumping until the heart finds its normal pace and takes up its own work again."

This is but one example of how the instruments will operate, the doctor said, but should serve to illustrate their effectiveness. They will be set up in the recovery room for which space will be provided with the addition of a new wing at Memorial Hospital, and the portable unit will be used throughout the hospital for seriously ill medical patients.

"Doctors and patients will have more peace of mind when the equipment provided by County United Fund is put to use," Dr. Hodges said.

Finance And Interstate Units Meet

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Legislature's interim committee — the Joint Committee on Government and Finance and the Commission on Interstate Cooperation — opened a two-day meeting at the Capitol today.

The group looked into public utility rates and their regulation by the Public Service Commission today.

Representatives of transportation concerns and the State Tax Department have been invited to appear before the committee tomorrow for a discussion of the state's transportation and privilege tax.

Two other matters may be brought up by Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy), co-chairman of the committee. Bean said one is the controversy involving veteran State Trooper E. D. Bazzie, who recently was transferred for a second time in four months and demoted from sergeant.

Hopemont Sanitarium near Terra Alta in Preston County has been the subject of verbal exchange between Bean and State Institutions Commissioner Harold E. Neely. Bean indicated the other matter he may bring up before the committee would be an investigation of what he described as reports of improper activities, including misuse of state property, at Hopemont.

Revenue Dips On Turnpike

CHARLESTON (AP) — Net revenues of the West Virginia Turnpike declined 5.4 per cent in the first six months of 1958 compared with the like period of 1957.

W. E. Stahl, manager of the 88-mile toll road, said 1,412,391 fewer miles were traveled by cars and trucks during the comparable periods.

Mileage declined from 45,536,409 to 44,124,018, while revenues went down from $1,381,778 to $1,307,708.

The report showed that as of June 30, the turnpike commission had $1,578,156.86 on hand to pay current interest charges. This was almost $700,000 short of the amount needed to pay the coupon which the commission has said would be met Oct. 1.

Board Asked For Funds To Put Out Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Board of Public Works was to decide today whether the State should spend $20,000 to help extinguish a fire in a Western Maryland coal mine.

The Bureau of Mines and the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources disagree on the state's responsibility.

Frank J. Powers, director of the mines bureau, has asked for an emergency allocation to help put out the fire. The federal Bureau of Mines has agreed to match the State's allocation, he added.

Dr. Joseph T. Singewald, director of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, contends such fires are chiefly the responsibility of mine owners.

Dr. Singewald said legislation should be passed requiring owners to protect their abandoned mines from fire.

The fire has been eating away in a coal seam of the Koontz Coal Co. one-half mile west of Lord, Md. It started more than five years ago in a slate bank by "parties unknown, probably timber cutters," and eventually spread to the coal seam, where it has been burning since May, Powers said.

Powers pointed out the fire might spread to nearby coal resources in the Georges Creek area and possibly touch off forest and brush fires.

Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and Treasurer Hooper S. Miles will be sitting as members of the Board of Public Works today. Gov. McKeldin, the third member, is en route to a vacation in Europe.

Folk Tunes Disappearing From Church Music Today

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — A Southern Presbyterian leader says church music, as the hand maiden of religion, is growing up in the south.

And in the process, says the Rev. William H. Foster Jr. of Arlington, the music is taking on new dignity and leaving behind some of its folksy tunes of the frontier days.

The movement, he adds, is looking both backward and forward—backward to recover some of the historic "Christian Psalms and hymns, and forward in adopting the best of the modern works, including some Negro spirituals.

Mr. Foster is director of the Presbyterian Conference on Church Music which will hold its third annual meeting July 31-Aug. 6 at Montreat, N.C. He also was a member of a committee representing five U.S. Presbyterian groups which jointly published a new Presbyterian hymn book in 1955.

Mr. Foster said much of the music of the Presbyterian and other protestant denominations in the South was influenced by the revival period of 1850-1900.

"Cheap song books hastily compiled—often for commercial profit—replaced for awhile the long-established hymn books," he said. "In the westward trek of church members, when church organs and pianos were difficult to transport, original songs, often to the accompaniment of a guitar, dominated much of the religious music.

"But now a musically educated public has come to demand better music in their churches," he added.

Mr. Foster said the new hymn book was a result of this new interest and in turn led to the calling of a church music conference.

The Montreat conference, open to musicians of all churches, is part of a new day in church music, Mr. Foster said.

"It's a day in which there is a widespread quest for better music 'for the ears of God.'"

Mr. Foster, a native of Midland, Tex., is pastor of Trinity Presbyterian Church in Arlington.

Takes the Loneliness out of Living

Often there's no more welcome sound you can hear than the ring of your telephone—especially when you know the voice you want most to hear is going to answer your "Hello." Today, there's hardly a village, town, city or place in the whole, wide, civilized world where that special person can't call you. Maybe that's one reason a telephone is a necessary part of home for most of us.
